"The Cenci," Can We See It, Board?

One of the most feasible plans in a long time has come before the attention of the Board of Control. Dr. Arthur C. Hicks, enterprising Guild head, has offered a plan to the ruling body whereby the college may purchase an entire performance of the American premiere of Percy Bysshe Shelley's tragic "The Cenci" and enable students to see such a performance free of individual charge.

The cost of such a performance or even several such performances would fall well within the range ordinarily paid for a worthy assembly program. The cultural value as well as the entertainment value of "The Cenci" is almost beyond evaluation. Here then is a possibility that well might gain every student's support.

Produced only twice before on the continent and never portrayed in America, "The Cenci," one of the local guild's most ambitious productions and one of their most worthwhile contributions to Northwest and American drama, opens to theater-goers March 6. Western Washington college students may have the privilege of witnessing "The Cenci" without charge. Will they get the chance?

Rec Hour Poll Reveals Many Views; Even Anti-Socialistic

With the Board of Control's concerted effort to bring the guest situation at rec hours to a sensible concrete level uncomplete one: "Rec Hours," doubtably one of the most pertinent questions at hand is the

Those Who Never Go, Speak

A standout in this week's Collegian poll on rec hours is the attitude of those students who "never" go to evening dances, either informals or class parties. In the majority they stand for abolition of all such social functions. As one interviewer stated, "Dances are frivolous. Students come to college to study. Why don't they study?" Having never enjoyed an evening of dancing in a "frivolous" college atmosphere they undoubtedly can easily cling to such antiquated ideas. One of the most important attributes of a college education is social orientation. This can never be achieved by abolitionists who remain at home when they might be clicking heels.

Moaning From The Female Fence

Frequent moaning is apparent from the female side of the fence, who chide the men for stag formation. "Do something to break up the stags," they plead. "We like to dance at rec hours, not stand around." It is readily agreed on the first count that a stag line is detrimental. Sophomores solved the problem in a mild way when they placed barriers behind which the bashful boys were herded. Such precautions can easily be retained in future affairs.

Talk To Yourselves, Girls

The moan about wanting to dance and not stand around should be a case of the girls talking to themselves. Aside from the few fellows who come to rec hours merely to meet the boys and chat (and some, oddly enough, do) the majority of the boys do not relish standing around "thumb twiddling." But the morose glare of the female stag is almost too much to be weathered at times by the fellow who wants to dance. A little more of this air of friendliness and informality of those who really dance would lure more of those cautious males to the "spangled maple."

Guest Ticket Still Sore Spot

Still a sore spot though somewhat ameliorated by the board's recent action is the guest ticket line-up. Many of the Collegian-pollled viewpoints expressed regret that alumni are charged for attendance at dances of the "old school." One student stated, "The alums have poured enough coin in the college coffers, let them enjoy some returns." It might be pointed out though not argumentatively that those alums realized pretty fair returns on their "coin." They were privileged to attend recs and parties and dramas and games and lectures and concerts for their allotted amount of expense.

After a student finishes three or four full years at the college and then leaves for the world to return later to visit and hob-nob he wants courtesy when he comes back. And he deserves it.

This Issue Is One of Courtesy

The issue is purely one of courtesy and not one of finance. The present bounty on guest passes is made in one instance to lessen the number of tickets that are issued to students because they "might" have a guest. Under previous set-ups free tickets were issued to such claimants and those who really desired and needed the passes went without. Then why must alumni be classed with outsiders and charged tariff with the strangers. The point of those who regret such charges can well be taken up by the board in future guest ticket action.

A Lift to Seattle Offered
By phoning 4055-J as soon as possible three people may secure a ride to Seattle Saturday morning. Passengers wanted who can share expenses. Don't all rush at once peoples!

Want Portland Transportation
If anyone is planning to drive to Portland for spring vacation he can get three expense-sharing passengers. Phone Dell Long at 3777-J for one passenger and Isabelle Woodbridge and Elsie Shannon at 2110 for two more.

Tunnel Romance Near Fatality

It seems that among the other novel creatures swarming about WWC we have a couple that might be dubbed, "tunnel lovers" or "why take the long way when the shorter is darker." Let me elucidate. It was on last Thursday's mixed hike to the rocks, on the return trip, William "Curley" Weigel and Geneva Jeffers, despite the shrieks and tearing of hair and warnings of their companions, decided to return via the tunnel. When they were halfway through, seven tons of thundering steel (a train to you) made its appearance and since it was going approximately sixty miles an hour it kept on coming. Strong as he is, Curley knew he couldn't do a "Superman" and stop the train by brute force. He did the gentlemanly thing and threw himself in the ditch at the side of the track and invited Miss Jeffers to do the same. She did. After the train had passed, out came the couple looking as if they were blacked up for a minstrel show. People who were there, say they will swear on a stack of telephone books that Curly burrowed three inches in solid cement where he lay down. The girl, who naturally isn't as strong, excavated to a depth of one and three quarters inches.

Sharp Flat Flatter

By Leroy Holcomb
STUDENT OPINION
Current reports that swing music has lost first place among dancers are substantially correct, at least among college students. They have voted a preference for "sweet" tunes by a two-to-one majority in a nationwide poll of American campuses.
"Which do you like best, swing music, or the so-called sweet music?" was the question presented to a representative sampling of collegians by the Student Opinion Surveys of America.
From the answers they gave, it is evident that jitterbug music, which took the country over last year, is definitely out, for the time being, anyway. Only 32 per cent declared they preferred swing, while 66 per cent said "sweet" music like that of the Lombardos and the Kings was their favorite. A small group of 2 per cent said, "Neither."

GOODMAN
Benny Goodman, floored by an acute attack of sciatica, following a one-nighter at Worcester, Mass., is back with his band and heading toward Chicago on a theater tour. Ziggy Elman fronted the band while Benny was absent. Sciatica has been troubling Benny the last three months, but he claims it is "nothing serious." I wonder if Goodman will end up like Shaw did, quitting the dance band business.

AD LIBBING
Hal Kemp, slow-talking Southern maestro, wields the fastest baton in the business. . . . Mildred Bailey began her musical career as a pianist in a Spokane music store at $10 a week. . . . Well, you have heard the last of "Young Man with a Band," the radio program heard Friday nights on CBS since September 28. The programs were to boost record sales of Columbia's discs. It was good while it lasted, but they say that's all for the present.

Moon Struck Lovers In Rehearsal Romance

Members of the "Our Town" cast snapped in last minute rehearsal before the final production Wednesday and yesterday before large and enthusiastic audiences are: Gordon Morton, Clayton Ross, Paul Glenn, Norbert Colmier, Warren Toms, and Caroline Kuhn.

Jivin' Lunsford College Profs Aid Program

By Harold Thal
With several Western Washington faculty members cooperating, a ten-weeks vocational guidance program was started this week at Bellingham high school. Sponsored jointly by several local organizations, it includes the Lions club, Rotary, Kiwanis, Soroptimists, American Association of University Women, Business and Professional Women, Y's Men's club, and the YMCA.

The programs include weekly radio broadcasts, talks over the high school public address system, and conferences. Talking at the high school will be Dr. Paul Grim speaking on elementary education, Miss Mary Rich on teaching, Dr. William Haggard on secondary education, and Dr. Merle Kuder, who is chairman on the entire program.

The radio broadcasts every Monday at 8:45 on various phases of career planning might be very worth while even to college students," commented Dr. Kuder. The college also has prepared a 28-page booklet on vocational guidance and career planning for the high school students. A library on the same subject is being maintained at the high school by the organizations behind the program.

College faculty members belonging to the cooperating organizations are: Lions club, Dr. M. D. Cederstrom, Charles F. Lappenbusch, and Sam Ford; Rotary club, Dr. William Haggard, and Nils Boson; Kiwanis club, Dr. Irving Miller, Donald Bushell, and Dr. Merle Kuder; Soroptimists, Miss Mary Rich, and Miss Gertrude Longley; AAUW; Miss Nora B. Cummins, Miss Emma Erickson, Miss Florence Johnson, Miss Margaret McKinnon, and Miss Ruth Platt.

Guild To Present American Premier

By Bill Hatch
Here you have it! The American premiere of Percy B. Shelley's famous tragic drama "The Cenci". After over three years of work by the Bellingham Theater Guild this play is to be produced on March 6, 7, 8, and 9. Patrons of the Guild are assured that nothing has been spared to make this the most outstanding performance the group has ever produced. R. Milton Clarke directs the cast of 17, and Ronald Lunde, stage manager, has charge of making the nine sets required in the play's 15 scenes.
There will be souvenir programs telling about the production, listing all the characters, and with a picture of Katherine Bowden, the female lead, on the cover, for everyone in the audience. Miss Bowden, a former WWC student, is playing the part of "Beatrice," the daughter of "Count Cenci," who is played by Dr. Arthur C. Hicks, WWC faculty member. Miss Bowden, who has had experience in WWC pro-

Campi Coast To Coast

Even lipstick has at last found a reason for existence in the educational scheme of things. One Michigan State college co-ed found her pen to be suddenly out of ink while writing an examination paper. What did she do? Calmly reaching into her purse, she pulled out her lipstick and finished the blue-book. Was her paper red?

Uncomplainingly a University of Toronto class received dead fish, bananas, celery and apples tossed by an amused professor—reason for no murmurs of protest—the fish and the bananas weren't ripe. They had been frozen with liquid air to illustrate the subject of the prof's talk.

College men are rated taller, heavier and rarer than those of the last generation by University of California's Dr. W. C. Donald. But, says he, "The college women are keeping pace with this change, for they are now taller, have wider shoulders, narrower hips and longer legs than the co-eds of previous classes." Soon collegians will be putting the supermen to a test.

Schweingruber Ensemble Travels To Everett

The engagement of Miss Gertrude Schweingruber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schweingruber of North Bend to Mr. Clayton Knittle, son of O. C. Knittle of Lynden was announced February 26 at a party given in the Blue room of Edens hall.

Miss Schweingruber transferred to WWC from Ellensburg, and majored in music. Mr. Knittle is a graduate of WWC and also was a music major. Last year he was selected to represent WWC in "Who's Who among college students" and was a member of the scholarship society. He is now teaching music in East Stanwood and is the leader of the school band.

Guests at the party included Adeline Knittle, sister of Mr. Knittle, Elsie Harlow, Frances Beatty, Alfreda Fillingner, Ruth Strom, Charlotte Frank, Genevieve Lindgren, June Marie Olson, Lucille Allert, Frances Kordiah, Virginia Christianson, Ethel Schwartz, Vivian Hudson, Aileen Whetstone, Jo Jeffers, and Barbara Volk.

Miss Schweingruber and Mr. Knittle plan to be married the latter part of August at the Schweingruber home in North Bend.

Playing for the exchange program, sponsored by the Bellingham and Everett Ladies Music clubs on March 4, in Everett, the String ensemble has been preparing a program of classical, romantic, and modern music.

The selections to be played are: "Overture," (Feldmann); two movements of "Suite Opus 22," (Klengel); "Music for an 8-voice String Ensemble," (George McKay McKay is professor of composition at the University of Washington. The playing of his selection by the ensemble will be the music's world premiere performance.

"Some Comparisons in Music and Art," will be the subject of the talk given by Miss Hazel Plympton. She also will comment on the three selections played by the string ensemble.

Miss Edith R. Strange, and Mr. Don Bushell will conclude the program by playing the Rubenstein D minor sonata for cello and piano.

Local Camera Man Displays Talent

Pictures of the WWC campus, Yellowstone National park, last year's campus day picnic, and other candid camera shots will be presented in the library hobby display starting today through next week. Bill Tiffany, a candid camera fiend, is the owner of the display.

Henry Coleman, reference librarian, has attempted to create a student interest in hobbies but has had very little cooperation from students. The final display of the quarter will be held the week after the photography group.

School Nurse At Meet

Representing Western Washington college, Miss May Mead, school nurse, attended the Institute of Public Health at the University of Washington, February 23 and 24.

The institute, held at Nursing hall on the university campus, was on the prevention of blindness and conservation of vision. Miss Mead attended sessions and lectures on both days from 9 till 5.

Main speakers at the institute were Dr. Purman Dorman of the state social security department in Olympia, and Miss Eleanor Mumford of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

CANTERBURY TALKS YOUTH

"Youth And Its Social Problems" was the theme of Bob Canterbury's talk at the meeting of the Wesley Foundation on Sunday, February 25. After the speaker, a trio consisting of Anita Fuller, Dorothy Fox, and Winifred Allee, sang a few selections.

Next Sunday at the Foundation meeting a panel discussion will be held. The group hopes to have an attendance of 50 old and new college members in the section at church on Sunday, March 3.

With The WAA

By Bernice Monson

BICYCLE TRIP SATURDAY
The Outing club's last activity this quarter will be a bicycle trip to Marietta Saturday. Girls will leave at 1 o'clock, and will be gone for two hours.

BB'S SPONSOR LIFESAVING
Blue Barnacles are sponsoring a lifesaving group to work on Senior lifesaving. The group will practice on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday at 4 o'clock. Anyone who would like to join is asked to meet Monday at the pool.

The B. B.'s will also hold their last meeting Monday. Ilene Johnson, president, is planning games for entertainment. The program for next quarter will be planned soon.

BRIEFS

The Badminton club will hold its last meeting Tuesday evening. . . . Ping pong players are progressing slowly. The tournament must be finished by the end of this quarter. . . . Spring is coming. . . . with spring comes archery, tennis, and baseball. . . . Elizabeth Vallentgoed was defeated in the finals of the novice class at the recent city badminton tournament. . . . No more riding is planned for this quarter.

NORSEMEN ENTERTAIN

Men and women, numbering 44, hiked to the Rocks and beyond, on the hike last Thursday. There they split up into groups and hiked on to Dead Man's Point. Around 6 they ate dinner around a huge bonfire. It was a novel sight to see the Norsemen make the coffee (but it was good). Weary but well, they returned about 9 in the evening. Loye McGee and Miss Virginia Hawke were the chaperones.

DANCERS GET SNAPPED

Pictures of the dancers in folk costumes will be taken at the regular meeting Monday night. Herbert C. Ruckmick, of the industrial arts department, will snap them. This will also be the last meeting this quarter.

COLLEGE IS NOTIFIED

According to word received by the Collegian yesterday from President Haggard, then in St. Louis, the accreditation status of WWC with the American Association of Teachers Colleges is unchanged.

DELEGATES TO STANFORD
EDITH MEENK—President of the WAA keeps her very busy, but she still finds time to participate in basketball, folk dancing, volleyball, hockey and hiking.

MAXINE BALCH—This dark-haired miss was busy fall quarter as volleyball manager. She also spends her time playing basketball, hockey, badminton and comes to the mixed recreation quite frequently.

DOROTHY HUBERT—As secretary of the WAA and AFCW correspondent, she is kept busy writing. For physical exercise, she plays basketball, volleyball, hockey, badminton, and is an ardent Outing club member. She is a regular attendant at mixed recreation and had a big hand in the scenery for the Folk Dancing Festival. She is also going in for folk dancing in the future.

BEA ARMSTRONG—As Outing club chairman, she is carrying out her duties very successfully. She also takes part in basketball, volleyball, hockey, folk dancing, ping pong, badminton and mixed recreation.

AUDRENE FELDT—She may be found every Wednesday afternoon in the capacity of badminton manager and taking charge of the badminton tournament. Basketball, volleyball, ping pong and mixed recreation also take up some of her time.

Moaners Too

Al Biggs

It warmed the cockles of our hearts to see the Vikings trounce the CPS Loggers last Friday night. It serves Oscar good and right.

The score was not as bad as it might have been as Lappy, feeling sorry for the hapless Loggers, had many of his super-varsity and second team playing most of the time.

Murray (I calls em as I see em) Healy, and Blindman Boulton, Carver's robber barons, who wear stripes in anticipation, put their heads together this week and picked all-star teams from each league as they, whistle-tooters Healy and Boulton saw them.

It is about such doubting citizens that Messrs. Healy and Boulton added a third all-star team, the All-Moaners. These cryers are ineligible for first team choices and manager of the moaners, Jim Junkin, claims he can win plenty of games with such a squad.

For better and for worse, for Healy and Boulton, here they are:

Everett To Meet Bellingham High In Northwest District Final

It will be Everett Sea Gulls vs. Bellingham Red Raiders this Saturday night in the Northwest Washington district high school basketball tournament championship finals at Snohomish, with Blaine, Mt. Baker, Snohomish, and Marysville still fighting for third spot honors and the right to be the third team to enter the state tournament from this district.

Everett and Bellingham are already assured of a place in the state tournament in Seattle late this month. Last year Bellingham pulled the tournament upset by beating Everett in the district finals, thus the Gulls are preparing a rousing reception for the Raiders in a battle with a Cross-State conference flavor.

Last night in the semi-finals Bellingham defeated Mt. Baker 57 to 43. Everett dumped Blaine 54 to 23. Marysville ushered out Sedro-Woolley under a 65 to 27 onslaught.

Vikings Crush Loggers In Charity Tilt

Walker Stars for Sound Team; Second Victory Over the Northwest Champions this Year

Western Washington college Vikings added another victory notch in their belt by trampling College of Puget Sound Loggers, 49 to 34, last Friday evening in an infantile paralysis charity tilt at the college gym.

The Viks in their first home appearance in a month showed a superb type of basketball in the first half, running the score to 28 to 10 at intermission after a slow start.

In the second half the Loggers gave a better account of themselves but succeeded only in outscoring the Viks by three points in the last canto.

The victory for the Viks was the second over the Loggers this season, the first score being 50 to 00 for the Norse. Since then the Loggers have proceeded to capture league leadership of the Northwest conference.

Vaughn, Westmoreland, and Chamberlin led the Vikings in scoring, the first two gathering 10 points apiece and Hank had 12 counters. Norm Walker, CPS freshman and last year's all-state center took high honors for the evening in scoring 15 points.

Chinook Oust Mice For "B" Crown

Taking the first two games of a three-game playoff series from Alfie Biggs' White Mice, the Chinooks won the season championship of the "B" league intramural schedule. These games ended the intramural basketball season, as the disbanded All-Americans who won the first half "A" league crown were not available to play off with the Joe Joes, second half winners.

The White Mice had been beaten only once in league play and were favored to capture the final series, but with Schweinbruger and Webster, unable to play, the sharp-shooting Chinooks found little difficulty in outscoring the rodents.

The first game was 30-16, whereas the outcome of the second contest was 31-22. High scorers of the two games were Hoard and Peterson, both of the Chinooks, who nicked the twine for 14 points each. Franko, playing for the White Mice in the third basketball game of his life, tallied the gargantuan total of one point at the gift line while making six fouls in the two franchises.

Oh, Do The Vikings Play Tonight? Well, Whaddya Know?

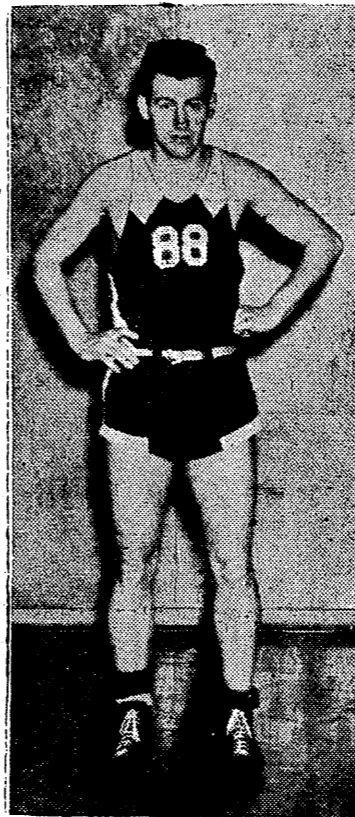

Tonight and tomorrow night wind up the 1940 WWC basketball season and wouldn't it be a nice gesture if at least half the school or three times as many as have been going up to the present should decide to go and give the basketball team a boost?

Of course, they don't deserve it. All they did during the season was to almost scupper the high and mighty Huskies of the University, give the leaders of the Northwest conference, CPS, a pair of terrible shellackings, hang two shiners on Nicholson's Wildcats, and give PLC a good headache among other things.

Those games probably won't be too interesting tonight. All the Vikings have is little Joe Moses, who has recovered his miraculous shooting eye; Hank Chamberlin, who is playing the best basketball of his life; rugged Bernie Westmoreland; Little John Pettyjohn, he of the bobbing run; Norm Dahl, one of the best dribblers in the conference; tall John Vaughn; Boots Harris; enormous Glen Smith; young Bud Dodd; Johnny Bond, among others.

Besides that the Vikings have a burning desire for revenge on the Savages who doomed them twice in the Inland Empire city. But that doesn't make any difference to us cynical people, does it? We are too dignified to get out and yell for the Savages' scalp, preferably dripping with blood. Yes indeed, it wouldn't befit future teachers to turn out at least 450 strong for a mere basketball game or two, even if it is a conference game, the last game of the season, and with our traditional rivals with whom we have a score or pair of scores to settle. Naw, don't do it. People would think we had school spirit.

Badminton Takes Stage Center

Sam Carver has instigated a men's badminton tournament, the playing of which was started last week. There are 16 singles contestants and eight doubles. Hank Chamberlin is favored to take the singles matches and he has already won his first matches in straight sets.

Pearson and Jones are facing stronger competition in the doubles matches but managed to win their first encounters in a breeze. Results in the first matches are as follows: singles, Hardy defeated Baker, 15-2, 12-15, 17-5; Chamberlin defeated Boys, 15-5, 15-5; Harvey defeated Weber, 15-3, 15-3; Allison defeated Adams, 15-4, 15-8; Germain defeated Gerry, 15-4, 18-16; Pearson defeated R. Smith, 15-2, 15-9. The only doubles match resulted: Pearson and Jones defeated Dorsey and Smith, 15-13, 15-11.

Herald Tournament To Draw Big Entry

With the second annual Bellingham Herald independent basketball tournament scheduled for four big days, March 5, 6, 7, 8, at Bellingham high school gym, seventeen teams of the city and county have entered.

Fircrest of the new County-City league looms as the team to beat in this tourney although such teams as Pastime, Everson, Hardwicks, Deming, and "Y" Varsity are to be reckoned with and could well pull a surprise in an upset victory.

Other teams entered to date are: "Y" seconds, Texaco, Bellingham Public Market, Original G-Men, Columbia Valley, Delta, Harmony A. C., Jerry's Italian Village, DeMolay, and Snoose Hill, champion intramural team of Bellingham high school.

Les Arnold, local referee, is in charge of the tournament, and deadline for entering teams is Thursday afternoon. Because of this, other entries may be filed after this goes to print.

Ellensburg Meets St. Martins As Parkland Pirates Meet Cheney After Viking Series

PLC Gladiators and the OWC Wildcats, tied for league leadership in the WIC basketball loop, enter the final round of play this week, and one of the two leaders is deemed to take a back seat in the conference standings; they face the tip-off the last time.

What happens to the two pacesetters will depend upon the abilities of the Cheney Savages, who will invade Parkland's backyard for a two-game series with the PLC Gladiators Monday and Tuesday, and the St. Martin Rangers, who will entertain "Nick's" Central college warriors at Lacey Thursday and Friday nights.

Victory for the Lutes or Wildcats would mean the Winco cup, while a loss would put them smack behind the eight ball. For their opponents, however, nothing in particular would brew from a defeat, but the honor of knocking the pins from under the leaders would give the two underpups no end of satisfaction.

Sigurdson Out for Record When the Gladiators and Savages clash in Tacoma on March 4 and 5, not only will the Winco standings be affected, but Northwest fans will also have their eyes on Sig Sigurdson, PLC blond bomber, who will be shooting for the 200 mark in Winco scoring. The giant Lutheran has already connected for 180 counters in fourteen games to lead the field.
