VOL. XL—NO. 41

Western Washington College of Education, Bellingham, Washington

Friday, August 8, 1941

THOUGH WE KNOW that it is our job to give the best and most complete coverage of everything that happens on the campus, we often find it hard to have a reporter Johnny on the spot every time. The Collegian works with a limited volunteer staff during the summer months. These people are not always available when a special piece of news breaks. The Collegian, therefore, offers you a chance to be a reporter. Turn in any item that you think worthy of printing. Do not worry about your writing, the paper has an excellent rewrite staff in the person of Eric Phillips. He will see that your articles measure up to Collegian standards.

Several poems have been printed this summer written by one B. D. Checking our name list, we have figured this person to be Barthe DeClements. Thanks, Barthe, the Collegian has appreciated your efforts.

NEED WE KICK? Students at Central Washington college at Ellensburg are being forced to allocate part of their student fees to a building fund—a part, did I say, well, to the tune of $1150—half of their budget. Boy, are they kicking? I'll say!

NOW THAT "OUTWARD BOUND" has come and gone, several interesting suggestions have come to our attention. One student suggested that she would like to see an all faculty play put on the WWC stage. Not that the faculty couldn't do it, either, as there are quite a few of talented actors among them. For example, who could suggest a better cast than such names as Victor Hoppe, Ramon George, Dr. Kuder, Dr. Hicks, Moyle Cederstrom and for leading lady, Virginia Hawke.

One of the most difficult items in staging "Outward Bound" was the lack of stage crew. A class in this type of work is lacking in this institution. Paging Mr. Ruckmick—Here would be a chance for a group to get actual experience, one of the prime essentials of progressive education as we understand it. Certainly this kind of a class would be a boon to hapless directors.

Had a vote been taken on the most talked about woman on the WWC campus last Friday, we are sure that it would have been the dean of women, Miss Florence Johnson.

Though the writer has not been able to be in attendance, understand that one of the most enjoyable times for men students is spent every Thursday noon at the Men's Luncheon club. Dr. W. W. Haggard deserves credit as the originator of this novel idea and Frank Brock special commendation for carrying on the club this summer. It seems to be the only sanctuary that the men have this session.

NIMS GETS PROMOTION
Appointment of Buell Eugene Nims former Western Washington college student, as a second lieutenant in the air reserve officers corps was announced last week in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, D. C., Saturday night. Nims is the brother of Frank Nims, former Klipsun photographer.

Likes Alaska

Felix Montes

Felix Montes, business manager of the Collegian during the past year and now stationed at Yakutat Landing field, Alaska, recently sent a fervent plea to the Collegian office for more letters from old friends at home; if he had any, he modestly added.

Montes tells of Yakutat as a fat man's paradise where they eat twelve meals a day. The struggle that goes on in the mess-hall every meal strongly resembles a wildcat on a tin roof in a cyclone trying to cover up his tracks with feathers.

The rain is even worse than in California. The sun has only been reported as shining twice a month. All travel is done by boats and they sleep on rafts instead of bunks. Montes reports that when his feathers grow out, he will be able to swim around like a duck.

Photography Salon Ready

Western Washington college's annual Summer Salon of Photography, under the sponsorship of the Industrial Arts 105 class, will open Wednesday, August 13, in the Art gallery.

Judges for the affair will be Miss Hazel Plympton, WWC art instructor; E. I. Jacobson, local photographer; and John Pierce, amateur photographer. Prints will be judged for composition, photo technique, and human interest. Ribbons will be awarded in each of two classes of entries: A, consisting of entries by students in I. A. 105; B, all entries from other students and faculty members.

A tea sponsored by a student committee of which Miss Frances Finley is chairman will be held on Wednesday afternoon through to August 20. It will be open to the public all day and several evenings during the week.

H. C. Ruckmick, photography instructor, and Stuart Fresk collegiate photographer, are advising the student committee in charge of the salon.

REC HOUR TONIGHT

There will be a rec hour tonight in the training school gymnasium from 9 until 11:30. Music will be furnished by Johnny Merritt and his orchestra.

"All students are urged to attend and make this a gala occasion," says Jim Junkin, student body president. "We are nearing the end of the summer term and we would like to see a good crowd at the dance tonight. Student body cards will admit."

Earle Receives Student Co-op Position

Louis H. Earle, Bellingham agent for the Royal Typewriter company, was selected by the board of control last Wednesday to succeed Sam Ford in the Student Co-op. Earle was picked from a list of six select applicants. He will take over his duties on September 1.

Earle has been the Royal representative in Bellingham for the past three years. Before coming here, he worked for the Underwood-Elliott Fisher company in Rockford, Illinois. He attended the state normal school of LaCrosse, Wisconsin, for two years. He is married, has no children, but is the proud owner of two dogs.

"I am very glad to get the position," said Mr. Earle, "and will do everything in my power to see that the board will not be sorry for their selection. I know that I will enjoy meeting the students and faculty of WWC."

MORE STUDENTS GET TEACHING JOBS

Miss Elizabeth Hopper of the Appointment bureau lists the following students who have recently received teaching positions for next year: June Nordquist, intermediate, Bremerton; Bettie Miller, departmental and art, Sequim; Vivian Benson, departmental, Rainier; and Robert Sarles, seventh grade and physical education, Tolt.

Dehelia Stanley, grades two and three, San Miguel, California; Clyde Kendall, fifth to eighth grades, Alpha; Donald Kinzer, intermediate, Vancouver; Dan Denton, intermediate, Maple Valley; and Marie Tegenfeldt, third and fourth grades, Avon school

Finds Clue

Al Munkres

Al Munkres, former student body president and Viking fullback, who stumbled across a piece of wrapping paper, the first evidence of the missing Kendall youth, Norman Higmon. Munkres, now a forest protective service guard, found a piece of wrapping paper on his way en route to the Canyon creek base after his first day on the search. He was attempting to rejoin three other searchers in his party at dusk last Saturday, the time of his discovery.

The wrapping paper, torn from a quantity of meat the boy had been carrying, led to a box of matches farther down the steep, rocky incline, then to the packsack and broken pack-board.

Munkres spied the boy's body under a salmonberry bush into which he had rolled.

Hank Reasoner, another Western Washington student, supervised the removal of the body Sunday.

Coleman Quits WWC Library Job

Resigning to accept a position as head librarian at George Washington college, Chestertown, Maryland, Henry E. Coleman, reference librarian, finished his work at Western Washington college this last spring quarter.

"Coleman's resignation," said President W. W. Haggard, "came to us last week from Kentucky, where he is vacationing." He is scheduled to take up his new work this fall.

Coleman came to WWC two years ago to succeed Charles Butler who, too, holds a position in the south. Previous to coming to Bellingham, Coleman had attended the University of Michigan where he had received the degree of master of arts in library science in 1939. He also had attended Centre college, University of Carolina, and the University of Illinois.

A successor to Coleman has not yet been named.

Concert Pianist Here Tuesday

Rudolph Reuter, concert pianist, will present a piano recital in next Tuesday's assembly.

Reuter is one of the few instrumental artists of American birth to have won unstinted acclaim in many countries of Europe. He has achieved a place of rare distinction in the musical life of this country by his consistent record of audience success. His engagements have taken him from Coast to Coast. He has been soloist with eight major symphony orchestras, with one of them in eleven concerts, and a unique record of re-engagements has brought him as often as thirteen times to the same city (Indianapolis).

Eugene Stinson of the Chicago Daily News says of him, "His command of the piano is formidable and his tone is remarkably clear. His balancing of the sonorities at either extreme of the keyboard is superb. Certainly he gave a complete demonstration of the full possibilities of shoulders, wrist and fingers. He was much applauded."

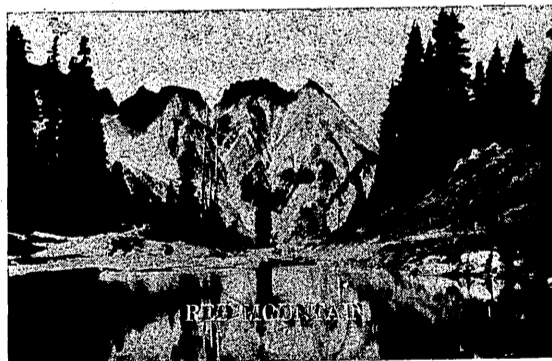

APPLICANTS FOR FLYING SERVICE EXAMINED HERE

Twin Lakes Hike Beckons Student Lovers Of Beautiful Scenery

Above is Red Mountain which will be clearly visible to those making the Twin Lakes trip.

Off on the last hike of the term, Western college hikers will leave the campus early tomorrow morning to go into the Twin Lakes region of the Mount Baker National forest.

Originally planned for a one-day trip, a majority of the trekkers are planning to remain overnight at the lakes.

After a short two-mile hike to the lakes, students will have an opportunity to climb to Winchester Lookout (higher than Church mountain) where Hank Reasoner, WWC student, is stationed as a fire warden, fish or swim in the lakes or take a pan for a little gold sluicing.

Dean McGee says that the fishing has been reported as "very good" while Dot Isaacs, veteran northwest hiker remarked, "The country seems more beautiful each time I go."

Tomorrow morning at 7:00 a. m. another boat trip will be made through the San Juan islands on the mail boat "Osage." The packet leaves from the Quackenbush dock.

The recreation schedule for next week includes another industrial tour, this time to the Bellingham coal mine on Tuesday, August 12, in the afternoon.

Tuesday evening a series of slides on the summer's trips will be shown in the college auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

to Western Washington college's memorial building committee? For months that structure to the right of the science wing of the main building has stood there without any signs of activity going on. Has the national defense program held up some of the materials necessary? Have we run out of money? What has happened?—if anything. We think it is about time that the students of this college heard a report from the committee in charge of the memorial which is to honor the death of six WWC students. The monument as it now stands is just an ugly mass of unfinished material. Let's have something done about it.

BEGINNING NEXT WEDNESDAY

And extending through August 20, Western Washington college's annual SUMMER SALON of PHOTOGRAPHY will be held in the Art Gallery on the third floor of the main building. At last students, faculty and friends can get a glimpse of what all the camera fiends have been doing during this quarter. At last all may be seen. Pictures taken on the many recreation trips, pictures of Canada, Mount Baker, and the islands of the Sound; candid shots of students and faculty members; indoor photographic studies and many other kinds and types of pictures may be seen at this exhibit. This salon is sponsored by H. C. Ruckmick's class in photography but they aren't the only ones participating. All have been invited to submit prints. REMEMBER—it begins Wednesday.

CHALLENGE TO TEACHERS

By W. W. Haggard

The case book in civic education entitled "LEARNING THE WAYS OF DEMOCRACY," mentioned in this column last week reports an interesting survey of high school students' interpretation of democracy. Two thousand and six high school students in sixty-eight different classes of grades VII through XII in forty schools were asked to write brief statements of what democracy meant to them. The replies were anonymous and the papers were collected on the spot to avoid coaching.

The statements were classified as follows:

1. Definitions of democracy in terms of rights and privileges..... 63%
2. Definitions in terms of responsibilities as well as rights and privileges..... 27%
3. Quotations of memorized statements..... 3%
4. Confused thinking or erroneous ideas..... 2%
5. Statements too vague for classification..... 3%
6. No answer..... 2%

The above findings are challenging to teachers. If democracy means responsibilities as well as rights, it is evident that in many high schools the full meaning of it has not been taught. It is hoped that the high schools are improving their teaching of the meaning of democracy. Perhaps the elementary schools and colleges can improve their training in citizenship too.

George Tumbles!

Ramon George, director of "Outward Bound," today possesses the painful knowledge that in order to descend steps properly one must do so—one at a time.

Wondering how his cast had hobbled up and down the stairs leading from the seventh grade room to the back of the auditorium stage for two nights in a row without an accident, George decided to investigate last Tuesday just before assembly. No one had warned him of the treachery that lurked on the steep staircase. In the seventh grade room below were props very vital to the dramatic director.

It would be quicker to descend the steps to get them he thought and he could also study the staircase at the same time. Unsuspecting the treachery of fate, he stepped on the first lift only to find it wasn't there. Nor was the second. In fact, none of them were there. He was falling through fifteen feet of space into the room below.

Wayne Ensign, school janitor, heard the crash and came to the rescue of the prostrate director. George is alive and well today.

"But I might have broken both arms and legs," he wailed. "What we need back there is an escalator."

NAVIGATOR OFF PRESSES

Fresh off the presses, the Navigator, official Freshman handbook, will soon be ready for distribution. The Navigator, edited by Betty Rusher, is a compilation from the formerly used Openers, Blue Book, and Self Starter. The publication will be distributed the first week of school to all entering freshmen and transfer students.

CLASSROOM FILMS SHOWN TO STUDENTS

Films selected primarily for the visual education classes, but also shown to anyone interested are now being run in room 102 on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 9:40 a. m. and 3:10 p. m.

During the past week two government films, "The River" and "The Plow That Broke the Plains" were shown; also some advertising films, "The Alaska Silver Millions," sponsored by the American Can company, and "From Trees to Tribunes" put out by the Chicago Tribune. On Wednesday a track coaching picture was shown.

Next week examples of films for the primary level will be shown. These include "Bunny Rabbit," "Three Little Kittens," and "The Gray Squirrel." Some music films also will be shown such as "Brass Choir," "Symphony Orchestra," and others.

During the last week of the school the films will cover elementary social studies. "Children of Holland," "Boat Trip," and "Colonial Children" are a few of the titles of the films to be shown.

These typical classroom films are furnished by Washington State college and being shown here under the direction of W. H. Durr, who is finishing out the summer term of Lyle Brewer.

Ullin Shows Slides To Kiwanis

Chet Ullin, assistant WWC summer recreational director, showed and explained to the regular noon luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Bellingham hotel Tuesday, 150 of his colored picture slides.

The pictures were all on two general subjects. The first group pertained to the recreational facilities of the college. Pictures were shown of some of this summer's trips and hikes. Slides were run of the Hannegan Pass, Mount Baker, and Chain Lakes trips as well

Forum

You know, folks, gum is one of the greatest things there is in this world of ours. Yes sir, it is the one sure way to tell man (woman, too) from the other animals. Besides this it can't be beat for its sticking quality.

Did you ever go to a very dull show or play, and yet have a rather enjoyable time just watching your neighbors and their gum? Now, I really don't mind people taking gum along with them for company, but it really isn't fair when they don't take it home with them, too. After all when you go some place with someone it hurts your feelings to be forgotten and left behind somewhere—So, think of the poor gum!

Did you ever look under the assembly seats, or the desks in the different rooms? If you take time to do this, you will find a surprising assortment there, (unless the poor janitor has taken time out to scrape it off). Of course there is one advantage of putting your gum under the seats—every one else doesn't have to look at it. Now another dumping ground around school for gum is the water fountains. I could write a sob story about that, too, but I'm not going to. But think to yourself—do you like to rush out of class or anywhere else as far as that goes, and beaming with anticipation of the sparkling cool water around the corner and be suddenly faced with gum, gum, and more gum? (second-handed at that). Makes me feel queer, anyway, what about you?

Reeve's Art Work Displayed

Donovan Reeve, a student of WWC is represented in an exhibit of water colors and gouache paintings now being shown on the third floor of the main building.

Much of the material shown is made up of a variety of subjects from the Northwest, especially Bellingham. As early as 1938 Reeve began searching out paintable material around Bellingham. A number of these earlier pictures are included in this exhibit and should be of interest to WWC students. Other sketching trips to the Skagit flats, the Olympic peninsula, and the Caribou country of British Columbia have added to the richness and variety of Reeve's work.

Through his friendship and sketching trips with Howard Jensen, now a commercial artist in New York City, and Lewis Daniel, a well known art teacher, lithographer and painter of New York City, Reeve gained much skill and insight into the possibilities of gouache painting, a medium he is using almost exclusively at present.

as several of last summer's most scenic trips.

The second group of slides were of pictures taken by Ullin on a field trip of the Seattle schools to Grand Coulee Dam. This group contained some unique and interesting pictures. Other unusual pictures were indoor photo-flash shots of the huge rotators before they were set into place in the generators.

Ullin also led the Kiwanis members in group singing.

Engagements And Marriages Occupy Social Spotlight

Fowler-Gilfilen Engagement Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Gilfilen, 2101 New street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Naida, to Richard Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fowler, 2912 Walnut street. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Naida Gilfilen

Both Miss Gilfilen and Mr. Fowler have attended WWC.

Nim-Hogg Wedding Solemnized

Betty Hogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hogg, of Vancouver, Wash., and Lt. Frank Nims, son of Mrs. Ethel Nims, of Bellingham, were married in the Heights Presbyterian church, of Vancouver, Saturday evening, August 2, at 8:30 p. m.

Jean Hogg, WWC student, attended her sister as maid of honor. Jack Arvidson played the cello at the ceremony.

Mr. Nims is a graduate of WWC, and Mrs. Nims attended the college. The couple will make their home near Ft. Lewis.

Students who served at the ceremony were: Margaret Rabb, Olga Hougan, Marjorie Beck, Wilma Dahl, and Betty Foley.

Rae Snyder and Lois Heaton will be hostesses at a luncheon and shower in the Mount Baker room of the Hotel Leopold in honor of Patricia Donovan, bride-elect.

Chet Ullin, WWC mountain climber, showed pictures of Coulee Dam and mountain scenery at the Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at the Bellingham hotel

Joan Hoppe Engaged
Word has been received of the engagement of Joan Ruth Hoppe to Phil Campbell of Laurel. Miss Hoppe, daughter of Victor H. Hoppe of the speech department, is a graduate of WWC. While attending here she was editor of the Collegian. Mr. Campbell is a graduate of WWC and has also attended the University of Washington.

McClellan-Ramstead Engagement
The engagement of Maureen McClellan to Blair Ramstead has recently been made known. Miss McClellan is a graduate of WWC and is now teaching in Everett. Mr. Ramstead is a former student of WWC.

Platt-Bever Married
Word has been received of the marriage of Dr. Virginia Margaret Bever, alumna and former teacher at WWC, to Dr. Grover Cleveland Platt, of Birmingham, Alabama. Mrs. Platt is the daughter of Mrs. James Bever, of Bellingham, and the late James Bever, dean of WWC from 1906 to 1936. Dr. and Mrs. Platt are at present residing in Iowa City, Iowa.

Edens Hall
Girls living at Edens hall enjoyed a picnic last Wednesday, August 6, at Lakewood. Olive Meyes was transportation chairman; Frances Wood, entertainment; Martha and Eda Wheeler, food and clean-up.

WOMEN HOLD TEA

The Associated Women students are sponsoring a tea to be given next Tuesday afternoon, August 12, from 3 to 4:30 p. m., on the knoll.

Marie Easley, chairman of the committee in charge, announced that everyone in school is invited to attend.

"So—put away your cares, forget your worries and come out to the knoll next Tuesday afternoon for tea, or should I say punch and cookies," said Easley.

MRS. W. D. KIRKPATRICK

Miss Florence E. Johnson, dean of WWC and social director of Edens hall, who became the bride of Dr. W. D. Kirkpatrick, chairman of the board of trustees in a service in the Lutheran church in Kalispell, Montana, last week. The couple spent their honeymoon in Glacier National Park and Waterto Lakes, Canada. They returned to Bellingham over the Big Bend highway.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick had been spending the summer vacationing in northern Minnesota.

She became Dean of Women at WWC eight years ago, previously she was director of Edens hall. Before coming to WWC she did graduate work at Mills college and the University of California, having received her Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from Mills college and a degree of Bachelor of Science from the University of Washington.

Visual Exhibit On Display

As a climax to their summer of study, the Visual Aids class, Education 165, will place their materials on exhibit next Wednesday and Thursday, August 13 and 14 in room 102.

"We shall exhibit and demonstrate our audio-visual materials showing how they can best be applied to the public schools," said James Stoddard, exhibit chairman.

Among the materials will be aids made by the students including film strips, motion pictures, opaque projections, lantern slides, stereographs, as well as museum pieces, all types of flat materials, maps, charts, graphs, pictures, and blackboards.

Also to be demonstrated and shown will be sight-saving methods and equipment, auditory work with the radio and phonograph and a demonstration of slide and picture making.

"Class members will be present to demonstrate and explain," Stoddard said.

Lyle Brewer, WWC science instructor, and Henry Durr, WWC graduate and visual aids director at Aberdeen junior high school, have been in charge of the class.

SPORTS

By Frank German

A letter was found in our copy box last week which carries some items which we believe are worth printing. Some of the excerpts are as follows:

Dear Sports Editor:

There are a number of athletes in attendance at school this summer who are making an effort to gain eligibility for football participation this fall. There has been much criticism leveled at such athletes who find it hard to maintain the high grade level required by this college in order to play ball.

It seems that it isn't necessary to make so many cracks at the fellows who have capitalized on their athletic ability in helping themselves through college. In nearly every case they are not loafing. They have come to school to get an education. They might have been working and securing good pay but they have chosen education as their goal. This seems a worthy merit in itself.

A Sports Fan

You sports fans may take the letter for what's it worth. We are sure there are other opinions on the subject. Your expressions are welcome; just drop them in the Collegian office.

Is there going to be a shakeup in the coaching set-up of the Winco league? Last week we printed a story on the resignation of Red Reese of Cheney as football coach. This week the Campus Crier, official college paper of Ellensburg, runs a story hinting at the possibility of a new football coach at that institution. However, as at Cheney, Nicholson will continue to work at the institution as athletic director and coach basketball and track. Homecoming won't seem natural without Leo Nicholson or Red Reese on the opponent's bench. But don't worry, fans, we are quite sure that Coach Charles Lappenbusch will be handling the boys in the blue and white come fall.

Hal Jones probably served the shortest term of any Cheney head football coach. He lasted just one week. Hired last week by President Tiejie of the Savage institution, Jones resigned this week to report for active duty with the army. Just who will coach the Cheney Savages was clarified last Tuesday when Jerry Stannard, former football coach at Whitworth college in Spokane, was hired for the job.

Bobby Feller has passed his physical draft examination but the young Cleveland pitcher probably will not have to report for duty this summer... but what a pitcher the army will have next year.

HAYDEN GIVES LECTURE ON PHILIPPINES

Professor Joseph R. Hayden, chairman of the department of Political Science at the University of Michigan will speak in next Friday's assembly. The subject of his address will be "The Philippines: Still an American Problem."

Hayden has done considerable work in the Philippines, having served as vice governor and secretary of public instruction during a leave of absence from 1933 to 1935. He also has served as an exchange professor to the University of the Philippines.

He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity as well as the Phi Kappa Phi, and Phi Gamma Delta. Hayden was awarded the silver star citation by the secretary of the navy.

Hoppe Returns From Mexico

Returning from Mexico city last Friday, Victor H. Hoppe of the speech department, is now at home at his residence on fourteenth street.

Hoppe left on June 17 for Mexico. He went as far as Tlaxco, Mexico, which is 100 miles south of Mexico city. The trip home was made via the Carlsbad Caverns, Grand Canyon, New Mexico, and the Mojave desert. Several days were also spent in visiting San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Hoppe will take up his duties in the speech department on the opening of fall quarter. The play "George Washington Slept Here," by Kaufman and Hart, authors of "You Can't Take It With You," is now being considered by Hoppe for production during the autumn quarter.

There's Work to be Done

Between Edens hall and the main building sets this memorial to the students who were lost on Mount Baker several years ago. Work on the memorial was begun last summer. Today in its uncompleted stage, it might represent a replica of the stone age being carefully preserved by the college.

Until proper identification and publicity is given it, the memorial is as buried as those whose memories it stands for. Let's speed along this worthy service.

Softballers Play Huskies At University

Again because of a last minute change of schedules, the Western College Viking softballers will play today with the University of Washington Huskies in Seattle instead of last Wednesday as was announced in last week's Collegian. The local boys will attend the Seattle-Oakland game in the evening in the Sick stadium.

McAuley will start in the pitcher's box for the Vikings while Gudyka and his nothing ball will be in reserve for the rubber game. The Huskies won the first game of the series on the local field.

Those making the trip to Seattle are Hugh Hassell, Walt Bryski, Lyle Pettyjohn, Jack Bromley, Oscar Johnson, Jerry Connell, Stuart Fresk, Del Boulton, Leonard Rodland, Ken McAuley, Ernie Dzurich, and Coach Charles Lappenbusch.

KLIPSUN UNDER WAY

Staff members and photographers working on the 1942 Klipsun seem to believe in the old saying about the early bird and the worm. Work on copy and photography for next year's book has already begun. Graduation shots and several feature pictures already are on the complete list.

Jane Hamilton, 1942 editor, will travel to Seattle this week to make contact with the Western Engraving company, engravers of the Klipsun. From them she expects to get new ideas of the 1942 annual.

A new feature added to the Klipsun will be a section devoted to this summer school session.

Washington Defeats Norsemen In Exciting Game

Featured by the pitching and hitting of Bonney, Husky pitcher, the University of Washington Huskies defeated the Western College Vikings 7-3 in a softball game played last Friday on the local field in back of the PE building. This was the first game of a home and home series between the two institutions. Bonney held the locals to five hits and contributed a homer with two men aboard in the sixth inning.

Western took an early lead in the second inning when Dzurich singled and then stole second. Pettyjohn, next up, got on by a fielder's choice. Both scored later following outs made by Bromley and Fresk.

The Huskies came back in the third inning on a triple by Fauss and an error that allowed him to score. From then on the game settled down into a pitching duel until the sixth when Bonney won his own ball game by hitting out a long homer, scoring two men ahead of him. It was Bonney's third hit out of four times at bat for the day. The Huskies scored two more runs in the seventh.

Western got its final run in the seventh when Dzurich tapped out his third hit for the day and later scored. The game was featured by excellent fielding plays on both sides. Dzurich, Hassell, and Bryski came up with several good catches for the locals while Clarence, the Husky shortstop came up with everything hit near him including a couple that looked like they were tabbed for several bases.
