Library Reluctantly Announces Fines for Overdue Books to Go Into Effect Spring Quarter

Fines for overdue library books will be charged beginning next quarter, it was announced today by Miss Mildred Herrick, librarian. The fine for overdue general circulation books will be five cents per day and for reserve books, 25 cents for the first hour and 10 cents for each additional hour.

The text of the statement released by the library staff follows:

The library staff reluctantly announces that, beginning with the spring quarter all books not returned to the library on time will be subject to fines.

They recognize that a fine system is neither the whole nor the perfect solution of the overdue book problem; they still feel strongly that the ideal system is based upon student understanding, enlightened self-interest and cooperation. For many years such a system has been promoted and supported.

However, carefully maintained records for the past several years indicate a growing indifference to the necessity of returning books on time. In addition to working a hardship on students who are waiting for books to meet assignment requirements this carelessness penalizes those who return their books when due and creates an excessive load for the circulation department.

ATTEMPTED TO AVOID FINES

Efforts made by the library staff to keep from introducing the fine system have been unsuccessful. The basis of the present "no fine" system has been explained in library classes and students have been urged to cooperate for their own interest. They have been warned that if the increase in overdues continued the library would be forced to follow the practice generally accepted in other colleges.

Several years ago a change in the charging system made general circulation books due twice a week instead of every school day. It was hoped that this might help to decrease the number of books brought in late. Although a saving of time resulted, it had no appreciable influence on the number of overdues.

Much time has been spent sending out notices and making person to person calls in an attempt to get back books badly needed by other students. All too frequently these efforts have been met with only casual response.

AMOUNTS ANNOUNCED

Perhaps it is not realistic to expect to operate efficiently without penalties. Library literature indicates that many institutions have found this to be true. Anyway, after due consideration the policy here is changed and the following fines will be charged:

Twenty-five cents for the first hour and 10 cents for each ad-

Thirty-seven to Receive Degrees At Close of Winter Quarter

—Cut Courtesy Bellingham Herald

COMMAND PERFORMANCE — Washington's busy Olympia recently to hear a 45-minute concert by the legislators took time out from their hectic session in Viking band during its tour of the state.

Twenty-three Enter Teaching; Liberal Arts Degree to 14

Thirty-seven students will be graduated from Western Washington College of Education at the end of winter quarter, March 16. Fourteen will graduate with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Arts and Sciences; twenty-two students will be awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree in Education and the three-year elementary certificate and one will receive a secondary certificate.

Those receiving the B. A. degree in Arts and Sciences are: Donald Roper Anderson, Glenn L. Booman, Nita King Clothier, Thomas S. Conley, LeRoy L. Dixon, Charles Parker Dyer, Alex S. Gould, Robert B. Hopkins, Wesley D. Martinsen, Dale Castle Pierson, David John Quam Jr., Adolph L. Ravnik, Marilee Joyce Strang, and Edward Turek.

The following will receive their B. A. in Education and the three-year elementary certificate: James Joseph Baldwin, John Kenneth Blendheim, Theodora Katherine Brown, John Loy Calkins Jr., Creigh Cade Campbell, Roy M. Carson, Doris J. Chorvat, Zona Jean Daverin, Bernard T. Dorcy, Robert Clarke English, Norborn M. L. Felton, Earl Glenn Garrison, Lucile Johnson Hice, Rowland W. Hill Jr., Frank Pete Iraola, Maurice A. O'Dell, Robert A. Pinnell, Geoffrey R. Russell, Gerald Ralph Salsgiver, James Everett Shook, Richard M. Shreve, and Arthur Wilson Svidran.

Kenneth Waldemar Thiessen will be awarded his secondary certificate.

Record Number Student Teach Spring Quarter

A record number of 554 student teachers will participate in the teacher training program spring quarter according to Mrs. Bearnice Skeen of the Campus school.

This record breaking number of student teachers is an increase of 60 over winter quarter. Mrs. Skeen also reported that all school districts in Whatcom county except one will be hosts to student teachers next quarter, and the Burlington-Edison school district in Skagit county will again open its doors to future teachers.

Practice teaching in the two counties will be on both the elementary and secondary levels.

Druzianich, Former Western Student, Killed in Action

John Druzianich, former WWC student, was killed in action in Korea on March 2, it has been announced by the defense department.

According to the defense department telegram, Druzianich was killed while on patrol duty in the mountains of Korea. At that time he was serving with the First Marine Division.

Druzianich graduated from Weatherwax high school in Aberdeen in 1948. He had been on the school basketball team for three years and had reigned as yell king for one year. He also played clarinet in the school band and was president of his high school fraternity.

After graduation from high school, Druzianich enrolled in teacher education at WWC. He lived at Hilltop house in Bellingham and attended classes during fall, winter and spring quarters of 1949-1950.

Shortly before being recalled into the Marines (he had served one year after World War II) Druzianich married Anita DePaoli of Aberdeen.

In addition to his wife, Druzianich is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Druzianich Sr., and two brothers, Victor and Alvin.

Spring Registration Procedure Employs Revised Schedule

Final registration procedure for the spring quarter will begin on Monday, March 26 as announced by Donald Ferris, registrar. "Special attention should be paid to the revised alphabetical order that is being employed this quarter," said Mr. Ferris.

The schedule is as follows:

FOR ALL STUDENTS WHO HAVE PREREGISTERED

1. Pick up Trial Study Schedule in the Main Hall at appointed time (according to initial of your last name).

8:30.....W, X, Y, Z	10:30.....N, O, P	2:00.....H
9:00.....T, U, V	11:00.....M	2:30.....E, F, G
9:30.....S	1:00.....L	3:00.....C, D
10:00.....Q, R	1:30.....I, J, K	3:30.....A, B

2. If you must change this schedule in any way report to Room 108 to make the change before proceeding with the next step. Remember that class cards have been made for each class as scheduled. Hence no alteration in this program is official unless this step is taken.

3. Veterans report to Room 112 for credit card.

4. Present Trial Study Schedule at the Business office to secure Registration book.

5. Follow directions on front cover of Registration book.

FOR STUDENTS NOT PREREGISTERED

1. If you were enrolled in this college winter quarter, you may not register until Tuesday, March 27.

2. New students and any returning students not enrolled winter quarter may preregister Monday in the Registrar's office. After your schedule is approved by the Registrar, report to Room 108 for enrollment in class sections, and then proceed with step 3 or 4 in the instructions above.

ENTRANCE TESTS FOR NEW STUDENTS

All new students must take the college aptitude and reading tests. New students who do not have college credit in English Composition must take the English placement tests. Freshmen and sophomores are expected to take the Kuder Preference Tests (optional with upper classmen and graduates).

Sentimentally Speaking

Gambling will never cease but big-time gambling, out of which arises such scandals as the current basketball bribe story, occurs only in big-time sports.

In the big time, commercialism in college sports has run rampant, and collegiate athletics is distorted beyond all recognition as a supposed segment of a rounded university education.

There has been much said in defense of the players involved. The players' dishonest actions have been attributed to the moral climate of our culture. The influence-peddler in government, they say with a shrug, has peddled more than one kind of influence; he has helped change "dying for dear old Rutgers" to "dumping for dear old dollar."

To shrug at such a situation, to say that society as a whole is to blame, is not a means of correcting it. Where commercialism has run rampant, college sports, in order to survive, must return to a saner basis . . . Playing in a league of natural rivals, before a crowd of students, alumni, friends and relatives—people who take a personal and non-monetary interest in performers and who will remember their feats as long as they remember their school—is far more satisfactory for an athlete than competing for those whose interest is impersonal and purely monetary.

Here, in the Evergreen conference, where commercialism has not yet made such definite inroads, we must be on guard against it as a serious threat to the future of college sports. We want an athlete to continue being one who is proud of being a member of his team and his school, not one who doesn't know for what and for whom he is competing.

If "dying for dear old Rutgers" is sentimental, then let us not be afraid to be sentimental—and proud and sincere, as well!

Fireside Chat

By EDDIE HICKENBOTTOM
 President, Associated Students

For the benefit of those who thought the TV set was folly, you should have seen the crowd in the lounge this last Friday and Saturday nights for the Washington-UCLA basketball series. There were about 150 people there each night. An added note of encouragement is noted in that the Seattle Rainiers will televise their Wednesday night and Sunday afternoon ball games from Seattle.

NOTE: Evidently people do not read the Fireside Chat or they are not interested enough in school affairs to take heed of my article of last week.

I REPEAT: If I do not receive plenty of suggestions on how to improve the Artists and Lecture series program you will have to find someone else to go to bat for you. I do not believe in being a one man reformist.

Up to press time only five people have left responses. They offered some excellent suggestions. How about the rest of you? You are not helping me you know (I graduate in June) but you will be helping yourself. Have a good vacation, and when you come back drop your slip of paper on the desk in the ASB office.

State's Financial Problems Are Being Debated by Legislature

Washington's state legislature is working overtime trying to solve the problem of state finances.

Late Monday, the senate appropriations committee reported out the long-delayed omnibus appropriations bill which it had been working on for several days.

Sen. Rod Lindsay, independent Spokane Democrat, resigned as chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee, in order to "disown" the revised budget. Lindsay has been advocating strict economy in state expenditures and has favored cutting out the "frills" in education.

The Democratic-controlled house of representatives added $200,000 to Western Washington college's appropriation for the next biennium, bringing the figure to a total of $2,300,000. Gov. Arthur B. Langlie had recommended $2,100,000 for salaries, wages, repairs and capital outlay. The college's appropriation is part of the omnibus money bill.

Closely related to the appropri-tions for the three colleges of education is a bill sponsored by Sen. Lindsay which would permit the colleges to charge tuition, amounting to $25 per quarter. This bill passed the senate, which is controlled by a coalition of Republicans and insurgent Democrats, but is now buried in a house committee.

Critics of the tuition bill have pointed out that it would lower enrollment in education colleges at a time when there is a critical need for teachers, and that it would provide a financial barrier against some students.

Up-to-date Draft Information Is Compiled By Collegian

Credits, deferments, and enlistments are still puzzling some draft-eligible Western men: To answer some of the questions most often asked, the Collegian has compiled the following information.

What chance do I have for OCS if I am drafted or enlist?

About 5,000 army OCS commissions will go to men from the ranks in the next 12 months. There are 900,000 enlisted men to draw from. This makes your chance about one in 180, with college men having a slight edge.

When I graduate in June, is there a chance for me to get into essential industry?

Yes. You will not be inducted for 30 days after graduation. If you can get into a deferment-carrying job, your local board will reconsider your case.

When I get my induction notice, does that mean I can no longer enlist in the navy, air force, marines or coast guard?

No. You will have a chance in the month or two before the end of the semester to enlist in one of these services and be called to active duty at the end of the semester. There is no promise that any one of these services will be taking enlistments at that time, however. Enlistment is open or closed from time to time as training facilities are available.

What are the chances of being deferred until I finish college?

If you are in a technical field, chances are good. If you are in liberal arts, chances are less good, but many manpower experts and educators are pushing for deferment of all college students who are doing good work on the basis that we need teachers, doctors, and lawyers, as well as technicians, particularly if this is to be a long-term emergency.

If they start deferring on a basis of good grades, how high must my grade point average be to permit me a deferment?

No specific answer yet. As General

Hershey says, it certainly won't hurt to have good grades.

If I leave school to enter the service, is there any way I can get full or partial credit for work completed?

No, if you leave before the middle of the quarter. Yes, if you leave after mid-term. After passing course examinations, you may receive one-half credit, after attendance of at least one-half of the quarter. After attendance of all but the final two weeks of a quarter, full credit will be granted in all courses passed.

(The above information is believed to be accurate at the present time. However, policies in respect to the draft are constantly changing).

Ex-Students May Order Klipsun

Students leaving college at the end of winter quarter may have their 1951 Klipsuns mailed to them in the spring according to Klipsun business manager Keith Stearns.

Stearns said that students could obtain their yearbook via mail by making the spring quarter payment plus an additional 20-cent charge for postage at the business office. The total charge for students who have been enrolled both fall and winter quarter will be $1.70.

GI students who are leaving at the end of winter quarter must also pay the $1.70 to receive their books.

Books Due Today

All general circulation library books are due at 9:30 p. m. today, Wednesday, March 14 and a $1.00 clearance fee will be charged for all books not returned before this deadline.

List prices will be charged for all books not returned by Friday, March 16.

Reserve books and those books charged for the quarter are due not later than 9:00 a. m. Thursday, March 15.

All Campus school library books were due Tuesday.

more library fines

ditional hour for each reserve book not returned by 9:00 a. m.

Five cents per day for each book in general circulation not returned on time.

Fines will be collected at the Circulation desk and the money turned into the library fund for new books. In connection with the subject of fines, the library staff wishes to emphasize the convenience and importance of renewing books when they are due. Any book which is not overdue and on which there is no reserve may be renewed for an additional two-week period.

Profile Sale Begins

Now on sale in the co-op are copies of the Washington Profile, selling for 35 cents. The Profile is a collection of stories and poems contributed by students from colleges and universities in the state of Washington.

James H. O'Brien, adviser of the project, reported that 300 copies had been printed, of which about 220 were sent to other schools.

Contributions in this edition represent six schools with Western and Clark college leading with the most articles. Other schools represented are Central, State college, University of Washington, and Everett junior college.

Western students who submitted work are: Lois French, Carl Richart, Lorena Whitaker, Leslie Leal, Paul Gillie and Walter Goetz.

Over 300 Girls At Western On Career Day

Career day for over 300 selected high school juniors from Whatcom, Skagit, Snohomish, Island, and San Juan counties has been scheduled for April 17. The students will spend the day on campus learning about the teaching profession.

Preliminary planning for the conference began March 3 when representatives from the high schools met with Western's central committee. Dr. David MacDonald, chairman, Mrs. Bearnice Skeen, John Porter, and Dr. M. S. Kuder are those from the college working on the plans.

Sponsored by the college in conjunction with Delta Kappa Gamma honorary, Career day, now in its fourth year, will propose to interest eligible high school students in teaching as a life work.

The honorary follows through by presenting a study of the profession throughout the senior year of the students.

Eligible students include many who had not thought of teaching as a career and who had been thinking of entering some other line of work.

"No Training" Says John - But He Can Take First Place

By JERRI MOSIER

John Wilson, with his interpretation of Hamlet's soliloquy "Now I Am Alone," tied for first place honors in the division of acting at the national Linfield debate held in McMinnville, Oregon, March 2, 3, and 4.

"I've never had any legitimate dramatic training, or even appeared in any dramatic productions," said John, "but I've read a lot of Shakespeare and enjoy it."

Perhaps he hasn't had any training but, although only 24, John has traveled around the world three times which "perhaps accounts for my flair for the dramatic," he added. While a member of the Merchant Marine he traveled in such countries as Argentina, Australia, and Arabia, but confesses that he found Rio de Janeiro one of the most interesting spots of his travels.

John, who calls Manhattan, New York, his home, is a transfer student from Columbia university in New York City. One of his friends, a graduate of Western, prompted John to enter WWC just as he was completing plans to join a bicycle tour of France. He changed his plans and entered Western as a freshman fall quarter of 1950.

"I've only been on the Pacific coast since last September but I like it very much already. Washington is completely virgin in comparison with my home state. The people here are so much more friendly. I enjoy all the scenery . . . although I appreciate a cosmopolitan atmosphere too."

Dr. Haggard's speech in assembly on the dividends of joining the Forensic club convinced John that he should attend the Linfield debate. He plans on continuing his education here at WWC, and "isn't too worried about his draft status since he's a veteran of the Navy Air Corps."

"As for my favorite actor," John continued, "of course it's the one and only . . . John Barrymore."

Lt. Olson Completes X Combat School

WITH X CORPS IN KOREA—First Lt. Edward T. Olson of Deming has successfully completed the newly established X Corps Combat Patrol Leaders school in central Korea.

The lieutenant, executive officer of an infantry company in the 7th Infantry Division, was selected to attend this school on the basis of his demonstrated leadership and aggressiveness in combat.

Lieutenant Olson finished high school in Bellingham and attended WWCE for six months. A qualified paratrooper, he is a graduate of the Parachute Infantry school.

He is the son of Mrs. Christine E. Olson, PO Box 633 in Deming.

JOHNSON, DIAMBRA TO WED

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Johnson of Bellingham announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Iona Mildred, to William Diambri, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Diambri of Renton.

The wedding will take place Saturday afternoon, March 17, in Seattle. Miss Johnson attended WWC for two years. Diambri is a senior, majoring in PE.

WWC Soph Called

Rodney O. Cardwell, sophomore at Western Washington college has been called to active duty in the air force. Cardwell served during World War II for five years and then joined the reserve. He entered the service last week as a staff sergeant, the rank he held previously, and is waiting assignment in Portland, Oregon.

Cardwell was feature editor of the Collegian last year but spent this year after school and on Saturdays reporting for the Bellingham Herald. He was a member of the Scholarship society, and editorial board of The Writer.

Fosmo Elected Forensics Head

Larry Fosmo was elected Forensic club president at the Monday evening meeting, taking over the gavel from out-going prexy Roy Carson. Ernst Benner, Jean Olson, and Kathy Niemela were chosen vice-president, secretary-treasurer and historian respectively.

Discussed at the meeting was a proposal for a possible affiliation of the Forensic club fraternity, Phi Delta Lambda, with the national forensics fraternity, Pi Kappa Delta.

It was also decided to have membership cards printed and scrolls presented to members for recognition of the degree of service earned. The three possible degrees which can be earned are: fraternity, proficiency and honor. Student-designed pins are also being distributed.

"If funds are available," said Coach Sene Carlile, "six students will be sent to the Montana State debate tournament next month." It will be held April 13 and 14 at the University in Missoula.

REGIER MISSES SOLO

College choir director Bernard Regier missed a scheduled solo at St. James Presbyterian church Sunday, March 4.

He was busy pacing the halls at St. Luke's hospital where a boy was born to Mrs. Regier at 11:10 a. m. Papa and Mrs. Regier have named their son, weighing six pounds and four ounces, Ronald Stuart. He has two sisters.

PASLEY NEW PREXY

Edens Hall—Edens had its election of officers, March 8. The new president is Bonnie Pasley; vice-president is June Dillman; secretary is Nellie Kamperman and the treasurer is Beverly Dustin. Out-going prexy, Zona Daverin, was presented with a golf club as a token of the girls' appreciation. As her last act in office, she passed an extra hour for evening typing.

The quartet sang several numbers and Joanne Huyge played her accordion.

Many of the girls will be leaving the dorm, either for changing their marital status, or to work so they can come back to school.

Baseball Opens Early; Players Urged to Start Training Now

Fourteen games, with the first one just two weeks after the start of spring quarter, face the baseball team this spring. To add to the dilemma of the players is the fact that they play the University of Washington varsity squad in the first four games.

Joe Martin, who is going to coach the squad says, "The boys will have to get their arms and legs into shape during spring vacation and be ready to work into a team at the first turnout. This is the earliest we have played ball up here for a good number of years, and those in the best condition will get the playing berths. There are nine positions open, with room for anyone to prove themselves in turnout."

Following is the schedule for the baseball team, all games seven-inning double headers starting at 1:30 except the Seattle U game, which will be announced later.

- April 6: University of Washington at Seattle.
- April 13: University of Washington at Bellingham.
- April 17: Seattle Pacific college at Seattle.
- April 24: Seattle university at Seattle.
- May 1: Seattle Pacific college at Bellingham.
- May 4: Pacific Lutheran college at Tacoma.
- May 17: Seattle university at Bellingham.

JV Basketballers Win 14, Lose 4

With 14 wins and 4 losses, this year's Junior Varsity basketball team brought their season to a successful close. This is the most successful season the JV squad has had.

Coach Jerry Starr's boys won five of their first nine games, and finished out the season with nine straight wins. The boys from the blue and white team averaged 55.2 points per game and held their opponents to 43.5 points per game. Western scored 994 points during the season while holding their opponents to 784 points.

High point getter for the squad was freshman Bob Stone. Bob hit the 200 mark on the nose with 80 field goals and 40 free throws.

The squad named their inspirational award winner and honorary captain for the year. Chuck Lindberg, the boy who moved from the JV squad to the first string varsity in one week, won the inspirational award, and Jack Start, the rebound artist won the captain's award. This is the first year the JV's have awarded such honors to their players, but according to coach Jerry Starr, it will be an annual award.

Track Schedule

- May 12, Sat.—PLC and CPS—at Pacific Lutheran.
- May 19 and 20, Sat. and Sun.—

Tennis Players Urged to Sign For Try-outs

Tennis turnout will begin at Western the first of spring quarter, it was announced by the coach, Charles Lappenbusch, who is confident of a good potential team. He expects at least three of his former boys to return, plus the usual turnout of newcomers.

Lappenbusch said, "We have always had good tennis teams as long as I have been here." With this in mind he said that the Viks would play all comers.

Some of the future opponents will be Seattle university, Seattle Pacific college, and the University of British Columbia. The College of Puget Sound and the Pacific Lutheran college are also on Lappy's schedule, but he is not sure if they will be able to have tennis teams this year.

Western may stand the University of Washington if the latter chooses. "However, the University is as strong in tennis as it is in swimming," said Lappenbusch, "but a meet with them is not a certainty right now."

Coach Lappenbusch said that UBC is also a formidable rival in tennis since they are strong in that sport, and in golf.

He also added that all who are interested are urged to come over to the Physical Education building and put their names on the "ladder." That is, to sign up for the team tryouts.

Softball Spotlights Spring Quarter Intramural Program

Plans are now being laid for a full intramural program for the coming spring quarter.

Softball will be in the limelight as Hospice takes to the hickory sticks in an effort to defend the A league championship they won so handily last year. Don Bracken pitched his teammates to a 6-3 win in a playoff game last spring to cop the crown.

Two teams have already signed up for competition and more are expected to enter soon. Any nine able bodied men may enter a team in this springtime activity.

The spring intramural program is not confined to softball alone. There will be regularly scheduled golf and tennis matches also. Divot diggers and cat gut swingers can start getting in shape for some sunny afternoon exercise.

All persons who wish to enter into the spring intramural program are asked to leave their names, or the team's name and members with Sam Carver in the P. E. building.

Searching Sports...

By MORT GRONSETH

Spring sports will start out with a bang next quarter, with practically everybody getting into the act. You, too, can participate in one of the sports, with softball (some of the really sharp ones call it fastball) taking the big majority of people. Hardly like to call it fastball here, as it gives it sort of a... it just isn't that fast.

Western's basketball team was complimented when both Stan Peterson and Bob Hansen were added to the VFW state champions before they go to the National VFW finals in Montana. Wish both of the boys a lot of luck both back there and tomorrow night at the high school gym when they play the Mount Vernon Milkmaids.

If you are through those finals, or happen to have two or three snap tests Friday, this would be a good place to go to see some mighty fine basketball. All-American of last year, Ed Gayda, will be there to do his fancy hook shots, with Boody Gilbertson to help him with the hooks. Just hope the local team can hook the ball game away from them and let it go at that.

The TV set was just about paid for in pleasure over the weekend by the two nights of capacity crowds last weekend. There were about 500 students and faculty who took the opportunity to see the Huskies wallop the boys from California twice in two nights.

There was one big question on each night. Friday night's question was "What did coach 'Tippy' Dye say to the Huskies at halftime of the game?" You couldn't tell that it was the same Husky team in the second half. Of course the big question in Saturday's game was, "Where was Dick Ridgeway for UCLA?" The Husky rooters really didn't miss him, but would just like to know the answer.

A little note to KING-TV, thanks a lot for your wonderful broadcast, and one small suggestion. Would it be possible to use the blackboard to give the scoring at both the halftime and end of the game? Also, thanks to Mr. Earle and his staff for their wonderful service to the students.

BASEBALL PLAYERS ATTENTION

There will be a meeting of all boys who are planning to turn out for baseball Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Coach Joe Martin will be there to talk over the plans for the year, and to get information on the prospects. The meeting will be in the varsity dressing room.

Student Co-op
University of California at Los Angeles
Los Angeles, California

In Los Angeles, California, a favorite gathering spot of students at the University of California at Los Angeles is the Student Co-op because it is a cheerful place—full of friendly university atmosphere. And when the gang gathers around, ice-cold Coca-Cola gets the call. For here, as in college haunts everywhere—Coke belongs.
