

Look.. . .

By WALT BAKER

...Before I start indulging in my old pastime of writing a lot of garbage, I'll try to give you a sane reason why you see a by-line with my name at the beginning of this frightful piece of literature.

Through the graciousness of your new editor and the fact that I was once a WWColegian writer, I consider it a great pleasure and privilege to come back to the portals of Western Washington and contribute something to the weekly scandal sheet.

BOUQUETS TO ADVISER:

Being away from Bellingham and the halls of WWC for a little shy of two years, I see many things have happened to the old alma mater... My eyes grew to tremendous proportions when I surveyed the new home of the WWColegian. It is one of the most compact and neatest publications office of any school on the coast. To say the least it is much different from the old office that was a pain in the neck to the Science department and to others for many years. There is a cracker jack of an office for the adviser, Mrs. Burnet, who deserves a boat load of praise for her wonderful work with the school's publications. The Klipsun and Navigator editors have a private office right next door to Adviser Burnet's. The desks are arranged in an orderly fashion and they are adorned with signs indicating the various editors. Drop in before school closes if you haven't already done so... Wonder what Al Biggs, Bill Ridder and other former editors would say?

Another new improvement is the new student lounge. I remember way back when collections, dances and drives were put into operation with the dream of having such a place in the future. It's here and from all indications it will be the most popular spot in school. Outside of attending class the... Bigger and better things will come to WWC but none of them will ever compare to the always friendly atmosphere of the place... and the beautiful campus...

TO THE MEN

This little item is a bit on the serious side. It concerns the departure of the reserves from all over the country as well as here at Western Washington. Come July first the lads from the naval reserve will trek to other institutions to continue their education. This is a wonderful opportunity to further your schooling under military discipline... You will take with you all the knowledge you have gathered here from an efficient and always helpful faculty, both in intellectual and social ways... You will enter a different life and the going will be tough. The old saying of "Don't Give Up the Ship," should be in your mind when things look bad... With the mental alertness you have obtained here you

Noted Speaker Obtained

Dr. W. W. Haggard has been informed by the secretary of the Washington Education Association that a speaker of national reputation will be here July 16 for the second summer conference.

Last year, Donald DuShane, former president of the National Education Association, was the speaker at this Institute of Professional Relations which is under the auspices of the college and the Washington Education Association. The conference is attended by students and faculty members and is open to the public in general, according to Dr. Haggard.

Science Professor's Book Collection Given to Library

Mrs. Harry C. Philippi, wife of H. C. Philippi, former head of the Science department at Western Washington College, has donated over 250 books to the college library.

The books were collected by Mr. Philippi between the years 1909 to 1942, while he was a member of the college faculty. Modern-up-to-date volumes dealing with physics, chemistry, and geology are contained in the collection.

In addition to the autographed books, Mrs. Philippi gave the instructor's magazine files covering over thirty years of technical literature in physics and chemistry.

Served 33 Years on Staff
Before his death, March 7, 1942, Mr. Philippi had served 33 years on the college faculty. Since it is his family's belief that he would want his library to be used by students, the books are being catalogued and shelved in the general book file of the library.

On the front cover of each book a dedication plate has been placed. The plate is inscribed with old English printing and contains the following memorial: This book which belonged to Harry C. Philippi, esteemed member of the faculty, 1909-1942, was given to the library, Western Washington College of Education, by Mrs. Harry C. Philippi.

Grads' Labors To Be Gratified; Sixteen To Receive Degrees

The Reverend Carl G. Okerbloom, of the First Lutheran church, will open the commencement program Friday, June 11, at 10 a. m., with his invocation and will pronounce the benediction at the close. Dr. W. W. Haggard will introduce the graduation class and Verne Branigin will award the diplomas and emergency war certificates.

Dr. J. A. Irving, head of the department of philosophy at the University of British Columbia, will make his first appearance at Western Washington College to deliver the main address at the forty-fourth commencement exercises.

Donald Bushell will direct the college orchestra in several selections to complete the graduation program.

Class Assembly Tomorrow

"Class day is almost as effective, I think, as commencement itself. It is entirely a student affair—planned and presented by the students themselves," were the words of Dr. Arthur C. Hicks, chairman of the graduation list and class day activities.

In the outdoor exercises all of the speaking will take place on the sidewalk above the class walk or near the windows of the president's office. This will enable the spectators to see all of the activity. Members of the class will be standing on the walk, while the audience will stand beyond the graduation class on the school lawn. The bank to the left of the front door of the college will act as a platform for the participants of the ceremonies to stand.

A practice for the class day ceremonies will be held tonight at 4 o'clock.

Elementary School Frontage Planned

The President's office announces that plans are being made to bring in black dirt for the frontage of the new Campus Elementary School building. The land will be seeded early next fall.

Newscaster Hayes Once Actor

By PAT SCOTT

Sam Hayes, NBC commentator, shook hands with the last of the interested men gathered about him. He left the group, relaxed in the green upholstered chair on the stage of the WWC auditorium, and admitted with a note of pride in his voice, "Yes, I was once an actor." It was Thursday afternoon, May 27, and he had just concluded a speech to the students urging them to volunteer for local filter board work.

As he shifted to this lighter subject, Mr. Hayes told of when he attended Stanford University and of his intense interest in drama at that time. Modestly, with the manner of one giving an incidental fact, he added, "You might be interested to know that Lloyd Nolan, who is now a movie actor, and I, used to do the leads in many of the plays at Stanford University."

Graduates from Stanford

Mr. Hayes graduated from Stanford in 1927. When asked how he found his career in radio, Hayes laughingly revealed that this successful occupation and the honor of being the first network newscaster had been quite unforeseen. He acted for two years after his graduation, then due to the depression, he was forced, by financial difficulties, to apply for a job in the field of radio.

At NBC, he was given a position with the national players and not long after, he became the first Richfield news reporter. At the present time, he boosts civilian defense in his position as master of ceremonies for the "Eyes Aloft" program. It was through his work on this program that he was chosen to make a tour of the entire

Pacific coast in behalf of the Army Fourth Fighter Command. In the one week he had traveled when he reached Bellingham, Mr. Hayes had made approximately 110 speeches to Americans on the West Coast, attempting to convince them that it "can happen here and may this very summer." Moreover that "it is up to civilian defense here whether or not the war is successful."

Bellingham Quota Announced

Mr. Hayes remarked that during this speech-making tour which he is making, he has been giving about three talks in each town or city. He stated that the quota which they hoped to raise in women volunteers for Bellingham is about 150. His countenance was one of mild satisfaction as he announced that at one of his stops, the goal for

Sunday Program Includes Choir

Baccalaureate services began last Sunday afternoon with the customary procession of graduates into the auditorium.

The main address was presented by Dr. Allen I. Lorimer minister of the Plymouth Congregational Church of Seattle. He chose as his subject "The American Dream."

The invocation was presented by Reverend Russell Bisnett of the First Presbyterian Church in Bellingham and President W. W. Haggard read the Scripture. The women's choir under the direction of Nils Boson furnished the music.

In honor of Dr. Lorimer a tea was held in the Blue room of Edens hall.

THE WAR AGAIN:

Some farsighted humorists of late have been expounding on the different possibilities of the war and such, but what I cannot see in the realm of possibility is where on the good earth one will be able to get enough cash to purchase three pairs of shoes a year, or how a lot of dopes will be able to geedozzle two quarts of whiskey and a pint of gin per week. Ah, but didn't you know that Bellingham is in the midst of a boom. This is the era of the shipyard, "Jim Bradys." Go into Izzie Potstein's store on Polly street and inspect the merchandise and the sizes. Bellingham's average foot used to be a mild 8 1/4 C, now it has risen to a meager 12EEE. Maybe I have a solution to the situation right there... I wonder if the Psychology department could classify this fear... "Gil-cliphobia" ... All you have to do is ask any former boot camp vet and he'll tell you ...

NO MORE

Before I put my typewriter to bed tonight, there are a few very pertinent things I would like to expostulate from the infinitesimal corner of my cranium... It pains me to say this for a number of reasons, but I've got to... Well, here goes... I was always one to get a last word and here it is... "bye bye, buy bonds"!

State Colleges Add New Course

According to Dr. W. W. Haggard, training of remedial teachers at WWC will begin next fall. "In the past, this training has not been offered to students, but next year the three teachers colleges in this state will include it in their courses," stated Dr. Haggard.

A class of "special" students who are unable to do the regular class work, and require individual instruction according to their needs, will be added to the training school grades. Thus, those interested in remedial teaching will not only be instructed in the work but may also do practice teaching.

(The graduate pictures were taken fall quarter. Several people who are receiving certificates are not shown. Ten of the students are no longer in school.)

Editor 'Shelly' Spaghetti Fiend

Outstanding woman of the week is friendly, vivacious Bernice Shellhamer, better known to her many friends as "Shelly." "Shelly" is present editor of the WWC Collegian, a member of Valkyrie, Blue Triangle and the student lounge committee.

Bernice Shellhamer, who edited the WWC Collegian this year, hails from Sedro-Woolley. Bernice was the first woman editor of the college paper since '38.

This good-natured senior miss finishes a successful year of journalism and student teaching to take a position as a teacher at Stanwood, Washington.

The woman of the week is an inmate of Vikes and a chief participant in many "bull sessions" carried on at the house. Her favorite pastime is what "Shelly" calls "resting," but it invariably develops into complete unconsciousness. She has a mania for weird combinations of stripes and plaids, mainly to irritate her roommate. Dottie is in a continual spasmodic state.

The woman of the week admits a weakness for the navy air corps, spaghetti, the navy air corps, and last but by no means least, the navy air corps. This fall you will find Bernice behind the teacher's desk at East Stanwood. WWC regrets the loss of a sweet gal called "Shelly."

Canadian Coming

Appearing first on the summer quarter assembly schedule will be Dr. G. G. Sedgwick, professor of English at the University of British Columbia. Dr. Sedgwick, who was the commencement speaker last year, will address the student body the first Tuesday of the new quarter.

The famous English duo, Miss Victoria Anderson and Miss Viola Morris, will sing in an assembly July 29.

Norse Cruise Rollicking Fun

By JEAN ELAINE MULVANEY

● Cruising, cruising, over the bounding main—was the pursuit of a bunch of happy-go-lucky kids headed last Sunday for Obstruction pass in the seacout boat the "Flying Clipper."

And of course the very first thing "the boys" got together and held a little poker game. Gale Gregg really took the boys for a ride.

Russell Hoppe got a little wild on the way over and threw the signal flag overboard. The skipper could have thrown Russel overboard. (15 minutes were wasted going back to get it.)

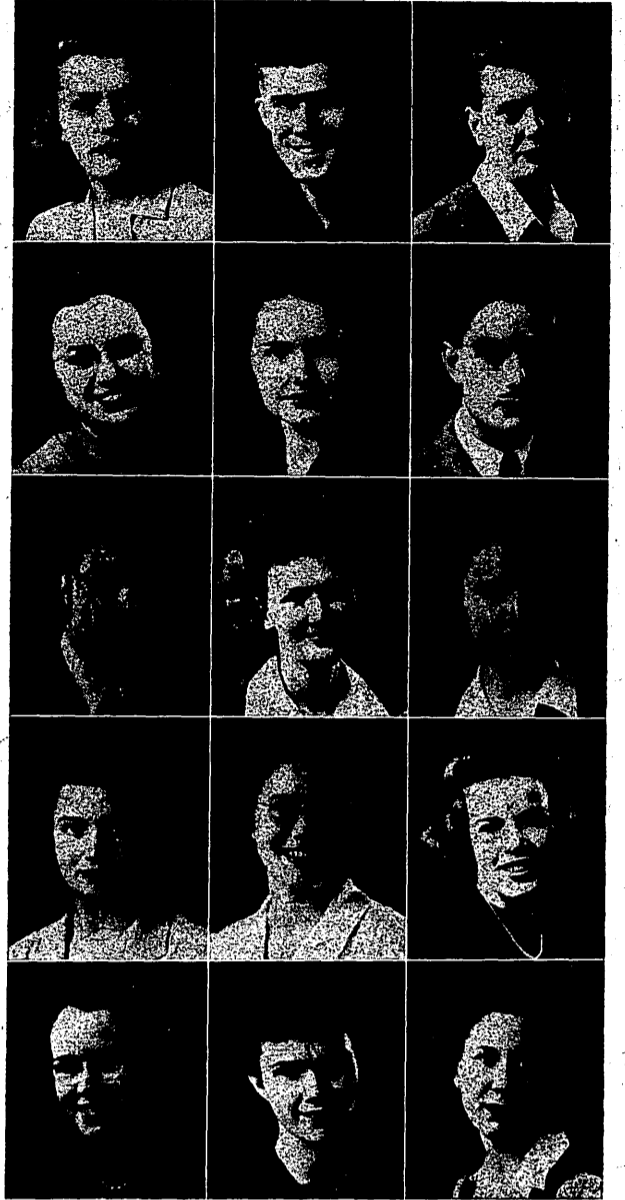

Landing was a little difficult for Wade Haggard. He just couldn't seem to get Peggy's steamer trunk upon the deck. The trunk was resplendent with lunch, table, folding chairs, and piano!
"It Was a Lovely Day."

It was a lovely day. The breeze was warm and the sun shone (dimly.) Because of the favorable weather those two brave souls, Jack Driver and Harold Moe, went in swimming. Dick Morsman and Wade Haggard donned their trunks and contented themselves by gazing at the briny deep.

It is a wonder Roy Wark even arrived. He didn't know the name of the boat, the time it left, or whether it left from the South or North side docks.

Sun-tans galore were to be had.IVALoe Stillman and Peggy Benton look like the Gold-dust twins.

As we again become landlubbers, we close the picture with the thought of Alda Hesby and Harold Moe rowing across the peaceful bay. Ah, yes—Love in a dinghy.

RAINBOW-DE MOLAY DANCE JUNE 11

● An unusual yet patriotic idea has been devised by the Rainbow and DeMolay groups for their annual dance to be given this year in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Leopold on June 11.

Ten cent chances will be sold on a War Bond to be given away that night although the winner need not be present at the dance.

Highlighting the evening will be the announcement of the DeMolay Sweetheart and introduction of the two club's officers. Carmen Pepper, former WWC student, was elected Sweetheart last year.

Mary German, Rainbow Worthy Adviser and Bob Sells, DeMolay Master Counselor, are general chairmen of the affair which, according to a statement of Miss German might possibly be the last dance of this kind for the two clubs for the duration.

Clint Nunamaker's seven-piece orchestra will furnish the music and decorations will consist of various sized silver stars.

This week we'll be saying so long for awhile to our boys in the Reserves. Soon they'll be scattered at training camps and schools throughout the nation. The best of luck to them in the service and we hope they all become ensigns and lieutenants!

There are some fellows who have perhaps some mere physical disability who are barred from Uncle Sam's fighting forces. These same fellows have plenty on the ball though. Although some of them don't realize it, they are needed desperately right where they are—in college. By continuing their education now, they will be preparing to take an important part in the planning of a post-war world. At college, they will be right in there heading activities and keeping things on as normal a level as possible. If they hadn't planned to return next fall, here's hoping they do right by themselves and the school by continuing college next year.

So long to you who've received your call of the colors, but we hope it won't be anytime before you're back in the student lounge playing cards, studying, "cutting a mean rug", or more like it—watching the girls dance! All kidding aside fellows, we'll miss seeing you around the halls and campus. Be sure and drop us a line, or if you're a man of few words, send us your address. We'll be glad to keep you up on our school affairs.

We won't be cheering you on the grid-iron or the maple court next year, but we're still behind you 100%. You've added the red to the blue and white and you'll be fighting not only for the little "college on the hill" but on a big team for the right to do the things you've always done the way you've always done them.

that city had been set at 400—the number of women filter board volunteers after his visit reached an unexpected 2000.
 With the tone of a commentator giving the latest news flash, Mr. Hayes concluded, "During this tour, I've spoken to the public along the coast in everywhere from the pulpit of a Baptist church in Roseburg to a dance hall in San Diego."

 This is the last edition of the paper for this quarter, so naturally the last Campus Patter column. We thought it would be appropriate to mention what is to be worn at the graduation exercises. The women degree graduates will wear white skirts, and the men, dark suits under their gowns. The other women graduates will wear pastel afternoon dresses, and the men will wear dark suits. By-the-way it's formal inasmuch as shoes and socks are in order.

Congratulations were REALLY in order for Dawn Griffith. Monday was her birthday anniversary. It also was the day she received her diamond from Bob Ludwick.

Irene Chetwood is sporting a super suntan this week. Yours truly laid out in the sun for three days straight and all I got was more freckles, and a couple of mosquito bites. (I'm kidding, of course. When have we had three consecutive days of sunshine?)

Ruthe Olds visited some friends who run a beauty parlor. No wonder she came back with lighter hair and darker eyebrows. Ruthe says, "My dyed eyebrows are wonderful, they don't even come off when I wash my face."

We really have liked whipping up this little current events column for you each week. We hope you have liked reading it, Corn and all. And now we leave you with this thought for the week, and also weeks to come. A column by any other name would smell.

Munizza Leads Varsity Men

● Gandering through the records and looking for the most outstanding performances in varsity athletics for this past year for any single athlete, our finger stops on the name Lawrence Munizza.

Three years Munizza has been a better than average wingman for Coach Lappenbusch's Viking eleven. Coming to WWC from CPS he was able to break right into a starting berth here and remained there till his graduation this year. Captain of this year's eleven, Larry had a man sized job to tackle. With practically all newcomers, and most of them freshmen, playing this year the boys had a little better than a fair season.

Held in Spotlight
 Basketball and track also are in the running, with him holding dominate roles in both. Track's spotlight was held firmly on Muniz this spring, when he entered four events in the conference. In these four, he came out with three thirds and a fourth.

Larry has a very pleasing personality and is an all-around good fellow among the students and faculty at school. He is in the navy V-7 program and probably will be called the first of July. After the war he plans a coaching career.

Larry Munizza comes from Pullup, Washington. A member of the Naval reserve, he expects to be called to service soon. He recently brought fame to the house in the annual beard-growing and pie-eating contests on Campus Day.

Stenson Leader and Versatile Athlete

● Versatile in every branch of the sports calendar for intramural athletics we pick the unanimous choice for the top man to reign over the after school league, Art Stenson.

To sketch his performances, we start with basketball. As a member of the Champion Hospice team, Art led the league in scoring by a big margin and was one of the top defensive players of the loop. He was easily varsity material but satisfied himself with intramural play. He also was picked as an unanimous position on the all-league team.

Topnotch Bowler
 Bowling is his next topnotcher, being one of the best rollers in the competition. Belonging to the Spring quarter Champion PE Faculty team he was their leading pin topper. The Faculty were the runners up in the school championship.

Hospice Inn had a fair softball team and were able to come out second in the league, but the reason they fared as well as they did was because they had a fellow by the name of Stenson pitching for them. Art was the number one chucker in the league and also a potent sticker.

Last, but not least, is tumbling and swimming. He is better than the average in both.

He also is a member of V-7.

Art Stenson hails from Everett and is in his last year at WWC. He is a member of Hospice Inn and a coach of the Jr. High softball team. He spent six months in the navy air corps.
