HONORS FOR NEGROES

Collegian staff and adviser discuss the Negro question and find that recent honors to members of the Negro race are indicative of the rising tide of opinion in favor of giving Negroes their full rights in the United States.

This question was also shared by Horace Mann when he answered a question put to him by Daniel Webster in 1848 "if he would advance the slaves to an equal social and political condition with the white race?" Mann's impromptu answer was, "I would give to every human being the best opportunities I could to develop and cultivate the faculties which God has bestowed upon him and which therefore, he holds under a divine charter. . . . Having done this, I would leave him, as I would every other man, to find his level—to occupy the position to which he should be entitled by his intelligence and virtue."

SOME STRAWS IN THE WIND

The New York Times and New York Herald Tribune have each taken on Negro reporters; Columbia University has appointed its first Negro faculty member; The National baseball teams have taken on their first Negro players; a Negro was first elected American mother of the year; a Vermont chapter of a national women's sorority has pledged its first Negro member.

DEWEY BROADMINDED

Governor Dewey of New York state is establishing a state owned and operated university which will offer full privileges to Negroes and members of other minorities. "The action," Dewey says, "has been made necessary by the restriction in force in the private colleges and universities of the state." Conclusively a noted Harvard anthropologist teaches that there is no basic anthropological reason that members of any race should be considered inferior.

EQUALITY AIM OF STAFF MEMBER

"Equal opportunities for the Negro is my aim. In every field of art, science and social life the Negro should have the same rights as the white. We made a 13th amendment to the Constitution of the United States and freed the slaves and now we cannot hold them down from achieving all in life any white man dreams of achieving."

A NEGRO FEELS TOO

"A Negro has the hopes, dreams and ambitions that a white skinned man has, so why should he be made to feel inferior and segregated. I don't believe in interracial marriage, but I do believe in every single right for a Negro up to that point."

STAFF ON "TALKING VERSUS FEELING"

"Discrimination against the Negro is a terrible thing. . . . I admit that. It's one of the worst problems we have today, and I can say along with the "right" side

Dr. Bond To Retire; Forty Years Here; Liked By Students

Dr. Eldon A. Bond, member of the faculty nearly four decades, will retire at the end of the current school year in September.

Dr. Bond, whose brilliance in the mathematical field has gained him nation-wide recognition, joined the then Normal school in 1907 as director of athletics and assistant instructor in physics and mathematics. Prior to that he had served as superintendent of schools at Blaine and principal at Coupeville.

Two years after moving to the college he became chairman of the department of mathematics, a position he still holds after a record term.

In 1932 he obtained his doctorate at Columbia University. Several text books on arithmetic which he published in the 1930's were widely adopted in the teaching profession and are still in use.

Always highly regarded by students as well as by associates, Dr. Bond established another record as faculty representative on the student Board of Control.

Although he later relinquished his athletic duties, he has continued to show keen interest in the development of physical education and recreational activities at the school, serving as an official in track and football, and as a hike leader during the summer.

Dr. Bond will conclude his teaching career at the end of summer quarter in August.

Units Near Entirety

Boom town on a small scale describes the activity on the old Sehome school grounds where 30 housing units are being erected for veterans attending WWCE.

The former playgrounds have been completely leveled to make room for ten two-bedroom and twenty one-bedroom units. Construction has advanced to the stage where the complete roofing process is almost finished on the larger units, and the roof rafters are ready for placing on the remaining units.

Sidewalks and gravel drives are scheduled for the final phase of the construction project.

AWS Planning Benefit Dance

Lee Thomas and Martha Walen have been appointed co-chairmen of the AWS dance, which is to be held for the benefit of its war orphan on June first. The theme of the dance, and the place where it is to be held have not as yet been decided.

Day's Activities Are Enjoyable

Wednesday morning at nine, Dr. W. W. Haggard, WWC prexy, announced an official Campus Day proclamation. Prayers for good weather had been answered. Bright sunshine flooded the auditorium putting everyone in a festive mood to fit the occasion.

Following Dr. Haggard's announcement, the various clubs and organized house presented a cooperative assembly with "Vaudeville" as the theme. The Valkyries won the $5.00 first prize with a colorful old time musical show, featuring a blues singer and a "can-can" dance. The ACE club won the $3.00 second prize for their side show carnival skit. AWS was third with their skit, "I'll Come Down to Get You in a Taxi, Honey."

The assembly over, everyone met on the parking lot behind the building and loaded in the cars. The cars formed a long procession which preceded by a police escort, wended its way slowly out to Whatcom Falls Park.

Beautiful Whatcom Falls Park with its many facilities—green lawns, tennis courts, waterfalls, baseball field, horseshoe pits, swings, teeter totters—immediately took on the atmosphere of an old-fashioned country picnic. Footballs began to fly, volleyball games were started, tennis courts were filled, and chow hounds gathered at the kitchen to watch the cooks in action.

Soon after the arrival at the park,

More Money Needed For Adopted Orphan

Germaine Beauflis, the little seven year old French girl whom the AWS has adopted, needs still more money. As yet only $86 has been collected, while $180 is needed to aid this girl for one year.

A plea is being made for more donations. This is not confined simply to AWS, but boys are also asked to give.

Germaine was born in June, 1938, at Pont L'Eveque, in the province of Normandy. War privations and German occupation have inflicted great suffering on Germaine and her family. The Beauflis home has been destroyed and the family is now living in temporary quarters at Bretteville Sur Lisves.

Germaine's father was a factory

Students Will Vote This Wednesday In All-School Election

Don Packard and Jim Sanford are the candidates to run for Associated Student Body President in the all-school election on Wednesday, May 22. Both of these boys are active in school affairs. Jim is a member of the Collegian council, and Don, besides his other activities, is a committee chairman for Campus Day.

Don Brown and Margaret Johnston are competing for the office of vice-president, and those candidates for Board of Control are Pat Temperley and Donna Redmond running for four-quarter woman, LaVerne Brockmeier and Mickey Smith up for four-quarter man or woman, and Ted Gary and Carl Lindell for two-quarter man or woman.

These candidates have been introduced in this morning's assembly and everyone is urged to take an interest in the student officers and vote.

Chairmen Thankful

We, Campus Day chairmen for 1946, want to extend our many and hearty thanks to the people who gave so much of their time and put out so much effort to make this year's Campus Day a complete success. The planning and carrying out of an affair of this sort cannot be accomplished by one or two people. Many conscientious committee members are needed to work on the various committees and to cooperate with others to meet the many problems encountered. This year, there was no lack of cooperation or willingness on the part of any committee member. Fellow workers, you are "tops" with us. Thanks again for a darn fine job.

125 Seniors Visit Western College

The Music Education Department will play host to 125 visiting seniors today as a culmination to the program of school broadcasts which have been aired from the music department throughout the year. Orchestras, bands and choirs from the schools of Whatcom, Skagit and San Juan-Island counties have journeyed to the College to present their programs which have been broadcast over station KVOS every Tuesday and Thursday.

In acknowledgement of the splendid work done by these groups the music department has invited their senior members to spend today on the campus. A program of musical, sports and social events has been planned. Miss Marjorie Muffly has assisted Dr. Frank D'Andrea in making the arrangements.

College students are invited to visit with the guests and to make them feel welcome in anyway in which they may have the opportunity.

The final school broadcast in this series of music programs will be given by Friday Harbor next Thursday.

CAMPUS DAY

The weather was beautiful, the food was plentiful, and the game prizes were crazy . . . and apparently a good time was had by even Kilroy. The parade of cars that rolled out to Whatcom Falls Park was something that has not been seen around Western Washington for several years . . . and it looked mighty good.

The pie-eating contests were dillers . . . although the competition in the student events was rather cut down by having last year's winners come through first again. All the games were on the ball, and every committee that worked on Campus Day deserves a real round of applause. Thanks for the stage-managing that gave us all a grand day!

AN IDEA, HUH?

WWC was lucky that such a beautiful day turned up on May 15. But chances are several to one that such a Campus Day will not appear again too soon. At least not if the date is picked way in advance, as it always has been.

Might it be possible to plan Campus Day in such a way as to take advantage of the good weather? Perhaps some arrangement could be made so that Campus Day would be the first day after a certain date when the weather is fine. All plans and arrangements could be made before that date, and then the first nice day would bring everyone out.

It's being done in many places, and although it involves some extra juggling of jobs, it would be well worth the effort if every Campus Day could be as sunny as this year's.

"It Is Possible," Says Student

Why not have the Student Lounge open on Saturday evenings? Wasn't the dance last Friday a real success? Can't more dances like that one, be arranged? These and other questions are being heard every day in the halls and in the class rooms.

ENTERTAINMENT AT A LOW
There is no reason why the Student Lounge should not be opened on Saturday evenings to the students. With the lack of school activity now existing here at WWC, the addition of a weekly Friday night dance would do a great deal to get a lot of that old spirit revived. To many of the students who are now attending WWC, the entertainment situation in Bellingham is very poor. They find very few places to go for a good time. Also many of them have no means of transportation to visit these few places, even if they could go.

EXPENSES DOWN
By having these dances over the week-ends, it would not only give the students a chance to have a good time, at a low expense, but also would get many of the students better acquainted with one another. The dances could be arranged so that for the average student the expense part would not be too rough. I'm sure it could be easily arranged so that the expenses would be very low on such an arrangement.

LET'S SUPPORT IT!
Didn't last Friday's dance turn out very successfully? The answer is definitely, yes! Then why can't we have other dances just like the one held last Friday? I have talked to many of the students and they all seem to like the idea very much. This cannot be accompanied, however, until the students all get together and get something going on the subject. So let's go, all you students who like this plan, and maybe we can get things started again.

Book Of The Week — Beach Red

"Beach Red" is set with ten words on each line to signify the passing of one second, and sixty lines to each stanza to designate a minute in the life of a marine known only to the readers as "you".

The action of this book takes place during one hour of the many hours it takes to secure an island. There is the dynamic description of the men waiting for H-hour, the tenseness as the beach is approached, the wading through the water trying to keep your gun dry, hitting the beach and wishing you were as small as a particle of the sand upon which you lie. "You" watch your friends die; then you see him. The first one and you shoot, again and again, and you realize that you have killed someone and murder becomes your sixth sense.

"You" hear cracks like "All right, boys. Leave us look good in the newsreels!" coming from someone who is as scared as you are, and as the bullets spatter around you, you realize that God will protect idiots, drunkards and Americans. It's His profession.

The captain, indistinguishable from the rest of the men calls on "you" to go on a dangerous patrol. It is up to "you" to find out what the enemy is planning. OK, so you go to work cleaning out your wallet, not keeping anything that will give the enemy any clue as to what unit you are with or any thing about you. All set?

Let's go, go into the hell of the jungle, straining your eyes trying to see through the thick growth which is where "they" hide. Your mind keeps running over the password

Food Cry Dominates

The cry is FOOD, FOOD, and more FOOD as the hungry hoard tumbles down the hill to find a place in the line with a future not too far in the future. No one but a starving person crazed with hunger would think of leaving a red hot tennis game to get a front position in a line for the sole purpose of getting through eating first in order to get back to the tennis court. It is this idea, and of course, the continual mental struggle of one trying to devise a workable scheme to get through the line more than three times, that occupies the minds of members of the Campus Day chow line.

CAMPUS DAY SIGHTS ASTONISH REPORTER

After a hectic day at the park last Wednesday, I still have a lot of questions on my mind that I would like answered. So if the following people will see me some time, I'd appreciate a few answers to these queries. Don't take me at my word, I'm only joking. (Joking that is.)

What's that stuff you were carrying around all afternoon Keppy? Is it true, that it blew a hole right through the roof of your dad's car?

Is it also true what I hear about Marge Leonard getting herself all tied up over something?

How come men like (ex gyrenes) Fran Corey let the army win the tug-o-war?

I heard some fella lost his pants out there, too, and had to hide in the brush. Where did you finally locate him Jettie?

Is it true that Jack Mixner saw the light and is turning over a new leaf beginning when?

Did anyone notice Dottie James and Pat Williams tripping the light fantastic up the hill?

I always wondered why the boys all call the girls pigs, but after watching that pie-eating contest, need I say more?

What were Pedie Hyatt and Ed Johnson doing out at the park fully two hours after every one else had gone?

I heard that in Chuck Fitche's life, there is one thing more important than women. What is it?

Where did Coach Lappenbusch

"Hallelujah, and the countersign "You said it, brother" and the fact that you are Red 21.

The jungle grows thicker as you watch it. Now is the test, can you remember all the book told you? You have to because there is no one here to help you except yourself, and the One up there who protects.

Keep your mind on what goes on. Watch the man on your right, left and the one up ahead. What's that, a twig snapping or a rifle bolt snicking into place before they get ready for you?

"Beach Red," red with the blood of Americans, will surely go down in history as one of the greatest books to come out of World War II, so by all means read "Beach Red".

What seemed to be the trouble out there in left field, Dr. Hammer? Sun in your eyes?

Some one was telling me that Mr. Arntzen lost his ticket and had to go clear to the end of the line. How about that?

I hear Dr. Bond has his own secret formula for coffee and the students really think it's darn good, too. Thanks for the time donated, Dr. Bond.

It is rumored that Jack Baker had 74 dollars torn right in half. What seems to be the trouble, Jack?

I still think that boy who played left field for the students played some fight spectacular ball. Is that the word I want?

Well, anyway, I think we all had a good time and after all these here questions are answered to me, I'll have had my fill of what's good in life.

Campi . . .

The Los Angeles City College had a spring formal, May 11. It was given under the theme of Spring Fantasy. It was rather expensive, per couple tickets selling at $2.

The campus day at Linfield College in Oregon features a "Campus Cleanup" by all the students. They also have a parade of floats and their annual bonfire—the burning of the green.

From the U. of W. Daily we learn how the Totem Club pledges its new members. They walked into classrooms and gave the girls who had been voted into it, because of outstanding work, tiny totem poles. Sounds like a good idea.

While all of us are recuperating from the rigors of Campus Day we find another school whose students devote this day to the cleaning up and repairing of the campus. This school is Pacific Lutheran College.

Snafu . . . by Char

Funny animal, the kangaroo
Kind of reminds me of Snafu
(Cause it always carries "what's new!")

News this week is a carryover from T. Dorsey to Vaudeville; some jump. (Vaudeville inspired this week's poems.) Poems? Well, on with the show. There were skads of people at the T. Dorsey dance. Anyone who got within blocks of the band came out emancipated beyond recognition. No kidding, the place was alive . . . over 2,500 people, and quite a few were from college . . . I'd still like to know when Kathy Freeman and Clarence Miller left the hall . . . Margaret Whitaker introduced her date, Martin, to us . . . and Evaun Jensen didn't like the band, just to be different.

In spite of beards and sunburns (thanks to the science trips) the Edens hall dance was a huge success. Orchids were worn by Marge Kingsley, Kathy and Marian Johnson. ### SPRING SPORTS

Track, tennis and golf are well through the middle of the season. The golf team has, with the exception of two non-conference defeats suffered at the hands of the Vancouver Thunderbirds, won all their matches in the season up to date. The tennis team, with its star player missing due to a ski injury, has won all but one match, which was dropped to Ellensburg last week. The track team, which started the season with only a handful of men, has been unable to garner enough points to take a meet as yet, but has taken a considerable number of points in each of its meets considering the small number of men Coach Carver has had to work with.

The final conference playoffs for golf, tennis, and track will be held at Western Washington College on the 24th and 25th of May. The conference track meet, which will include Cheney, Ellensburg and Bellingham, will be held in Bellingham the afternoon of Saturday, May 25, on the college oval. The conference tennis playoffs will be held on the Lakeway course. Everyone who plans to stay in the city over the weekend of the conference meets should get out and back up the teams the way teams should be backed up.

LOCAL NAMES IN BIG TIME

Cliff Chambers, local gift to the Los Angeles Angles, is still going strong in the Pacific Coast circuit. The latest victory in Cliff's debut was a victory over the Portland Beavers. It was his second victory over Portland in one week, and it made his sixth win of the year.

In the Western International League, big Sid Van Sinderen, star Vik basketball player last season, is hitting like a million dollars. In four trips to the plate in Tacoma last Friday, Sid got three hits out of four times at bat and belted in four runs. His hits were a triple, a double and a single, which is good in any man's league.

Clarence Marshall, Bellingham's representative to the big leagues, now pitching for the New York Yankees has picked up a new nickname. "Tyronne" it is, probably because of his resemblance to the movie star.

Cliff Gaffney, ex-Vik, makes up plenty of the batting power behind the Bellingham Bells. The Bells have been winning all their games by top-sided scores and several Viks and ex-Viks make up a lot of the power behind the guns.

Swimming Pool Open At All Mixed Recs

The swimming pool is open to all students who wish to use it during mixed rec Thursday evening.

Mile: Harvey (C), Mignaccio (W), Haiger (C). Time, 5:11.

High Jump: Heritage (C), and Pease tied for first, Henderson (W), and Mirosh (C), tied for second. Height, 5 feet, 5 inches.

Winco Conference Tournament Soon

WWCE will play host to the conference tennis and golf meets on May 23-24, and judging from past triumphs, the Vikings may be wearing their postwar crown.

Seattle College, Pacific Lutheran, and Western Washington will swing for link honors over 36-holes at the Lakeway golf course, Friday, May 24. St. Martin's is the only college not represented by a tennis team, and the remaining "5" will battle on May 23-24 for conference honors. Each match will consist of three singles and two doubles.

Before the tournament time, the Viks will have a chance to "warm" their rackets on May 18 against Seattle College at Seattle.

Proper Spirit Not In Evidence At College On The Hill

Attention to all students of WWC. For the past few weeks I have been writing editorials on the school spirit here on the campus. Up to date the results have not been too good. The students are still bitter about the way things are progressing here at the foot of Sehome, and that is the reason I have been concentrating on these editorials.

The enrollment at the college this quarter is larger, yet the spirit is the worst that it could expect to be. What is actually the cause of it? There is only one answer to this question. In order to get this spirit revived, all the students must get together and get things started again.

I wrote an editorial on track not long ago and a few students did make an appearance on the field. However, it wasn't nearly enough to make a hot track team like it should have been. The editorials on softball turned out much the same way. Having all the students sign up and promise to come out, is one thing, but when the time comes for them to be out there in person, well it just doesn't happen.

For many months I have opened my ears to the cries of all the students on the set up at the ping pong table. Many of the students are dissatisfied with the way the same few sharks keep the table all to themselves. It was suggested that one or more ping pong tables should be donated to the lounge to remedy the situation, but nothing is being done about it. How can the things mentioned be ironed out without the help of you students? All that we ask, is that the students who want all of these things bad enough, will give us some support on these matters. All that is required of the students who want these things, is just a few letters written in to the Collegian, or to see us personally on these matters and we will do all we possible can to get things up to where they should be. —B. C.

Hi-School Girls Entertained

High school students and PE teachers from twelve high schools in Whatcom and Skagit counties attended Sports Day Saturday, May 11.

The day's activities consisted of volley ball, a posture parade from which a posture queen and four princesses were chosen, badminton, softball, swimming, campus tours and a picnic lunch on Sunset Heights.

Nell Kosola and Barbara Caldwell were co-chairmen of the affair and committee chairmen making this day a success were, Jean Fuller, invitations; Pat Frombly, programs; Barry Stockton, registration; Margaret Strotz, food; Margaret Whitaker, games; and Evelyn Gallanger, campus tours.

Western Host To Conference

Western Washington will play host to colleges of the Winco league in the conference track meet which will be held on Western's oval May 25.

Local fans will have the opportunity to see the results of Washington colleges first post-war attempt at track. Many of the names on the roster are familiar ones to track fans of this vicinity.

Western Washington is anticipating a possible first place with point winners like Nelson and Lindell on their lineup. Sam Carver has been putting his limited squad through their paces this past week in order to have them in top shape for the coming event.

The annual Winco track meet will mark the high spot of the schedule for this season, and a large turnout of local fans and students is anticipated.

Fairhaven's Junior High Track Team Takes Most Events

Fairhaven's well balanced track and field squad raced to victory in the Whatcom county junior high track and field meet at the Western Washington college oval Friday, but a pair of dazzling sprints by Willard Oates, Jr., the 14-year-old speed expert of the Campus school was the highlight of the sunny afternoon. The campus speedster showed up very well in the meet just as he did last year. He made a show of the field by racing to victory in the hundred yard dash with a terrific flashing 10.6 seconds. Again in the 2:20 yard dash, he sped through the tape to the tune of 24.9 seconds. It was also this flashy lad who brought the campus relay squad from behind in the final 100 yards.

Fairhaven counted heavily in the field events to go with its three first places, rolling up a total of 33 points. Campus was second with 24½, followed by Lynden with 21½. Whatcom's defending champions were fourth at 19½, followed by Mount Baker, 5; Nooksack Valley, 2, and Ferndale, 1.

There were a number of creditable performers, and the lads to show up near the top were Mauler of Whatcom in the half mile and Larson of Whatcom looknig very good in the 440. Lynden also uncovered a promising young speedster in this man Jones who came in second right behind Oates, and who also uncovered a beautiful broad jump of 17 feet 7 inches.

First and second place winners are now qualified for the district junior high meet at Sedro-Woolley this week.

DANIELS HALL

Well troops, here's the shot. This will no doubt be a horrible example of a column, as the dead line for this Friday's paper is Tuesday, my old man came to town for a week's visit, and I am a sick man.

Did all you kids see all the Danieleers present at the Sophomore hop last Friday night? All the troops were there and a couple of them were really hopping, as were Dorothy Ryan and a few of the other fair young damsels of the campus. Seen tripping the light fantastic were, Dale Ackley (Normal), Corkey Brubaker and John Terry (fairly happy), Bob Tisdale, Walt Sinko, and Jerry Connel (very happy). I also saw Don Lew and his pretty wife, along with ex-Danieleer Del Peterson and his wife.

Speaking of Del's wife, I am so sure she trusts me. The other day I said "hello" to her as I passed by their house and she grabbed the baby, and ran into the house. Fine thing. Yes sir, there were a lot of hangovers around the joint Saturday and Sunday mornings, a hangover being what a person develops from playing pithball machines.

Tuesday we all had to wear plaids and polka dots, and it had the troops worrying as to where they were going to get them. Can we help it if we are poor and have to wear second hand clothes? Has any one any dirty old second hand shirts, in the plaid type, they want to sell? If so just notify Walt Sinko as he is handling all second hand transactions.

What did you think of that skit put on by us Danieleers? Wasn't that the cat's meow? By the way, has any one a dime they will lend me so I can pay my dues and still have a beer.

Amber tells me that the boys at her house are all in different messes all the time.

HOSPICE INN

Another Campus Day gone by and it appears that Hospice has a new household. By mistake—everyone shaved. Now there's no more worrying about skits until Homecoming.

Don Brown made a very good nurse in that skit, don't you think? Seems as though we have a tiger at the house, so beware, as he is rough and tough.

Jim Erickson is always late to his 9:00 o'clock class two days a week, as he waits for that letter from home.

Herbie G. Witt was cutting a mean rug at the dance; also Owen and Russ were doing all right for themselves.

Recent visitors at ye olde house on the hill were Mr. and Mrs. Criss Diede, who are planning to attend graduation this spring.

Geo ducks; what a morbid subject! At least, that's what Wilbur thinks.

EDENS HALL

Let me see
What can I say
All worn out
From Campus Day!

Whew, what a week. All the Edenites are recuperating from Fun Day, Campus Day, various dances and hard study?

Surprise, girls . . . the new date room is opening this week-end. The furniture is arriving today, so now we have a place to entertain our dates. Incidentally, Mr. Dwelle at the little store across from Edens hall, is selling dates for 50c a package (plus 6 green tax tokens, that is). Let's look into this, huh girls? Midge Spromberg has worked hard painting the date room and it really looks swell.

Edens hall girls really turned upon fun day with some weird creations. Most obvious were the mixtures of plaids with polka dot hair ribbons.

There has been a mad scramble for the brooms and dust mops this week as Mother's week-end rolls around. The bumps have been raked out from under the rugs, the beds have been made, and the overflowing waste baskets have been emptied so our Mother's may see that we benefited by their training.

NOTABLE QUOTES . . .

"I had to come to Washington to see the sun!" Marilyn Lee has returned from California—scingle—but with lots of stardust in her eyes.

"You can NOT make it by car to Edens hall in fifteen minutes from Birch Bay." Janice Jacoby and Barbara Splidsboel found out by experience.

"He nearly passes out if he holds your hand." So quoted Pat Loomis when questioned about the "wolf" in Russ.

My No Vacancy sign comes down tonight!" So wails Midge S. Her roommate, Gladys Nicholson, is going home on a week's leave of absence. We'll miss you, Gladys.

Since I have a sore arm from playing volley ball at the picnic, I'd better sign off now . . . but here's sending love and kisses 'til next week.

Valkyries Initiate Five Girls

Surviving, but in no way enjoying their survival are the five new Valk members: Barbara Caldwell, Betty Rosser, Pat Frombly, Jean Fullner and June White.

Tuesday afternoon from 5 o'clock until the established members ran out of evil thoughts, the five suffered the consequences of a Valkyrie initiation.

Yielding to their pent-up desire to see blood, the initiators stopped nothing short of slaughter. After dousing the heads of the victims in "Gardenia Delight, One Drop Lasts Five Days" perfume—purchased in bulk—they rearranged coiffures, adding a shoe string touch to appease their warped minds. Next, they brought into use all the cosmetics discarded by Gravel Gertie.

When they had done a few minor things such as running backwards to the dormitory from the P. E. Building, and carrying everything back except the monitor's desk and the telephone, they were persuaded

Matheson-Whitsell Wedding Plans

—Cut Courtesy Bellingham Herald

Mary Burnet Weds At St. Paul's

Mary Burnet, of Portland, niece of Mrs. Ruth A. Burnet, and a former student of WWC, was married Sunday morning, May 12, in the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, to Theodore A. Satterfield of San Antonio, Texas. After a motor trip to Texas, the couple will make their home in Seattle.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Follis, Jr., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Melanie Lizbeth. Bill is now attending WWC under the G-I Bill of Rights.

Gregory Thomas is the name that Mr. and Mrs. Murray Goff have chosen for their new son. Murray attended college here before he entered the service.

WRA Plans Jaunt

Thirty members of the WRA will leave Bellingham Saturday, May 26, for a week-end stay at the Viqueen Lodge on Sinclair Island.

The trip over there will be made on the mail boat and a special boat is expected to be employed to take the group back on Sunday.

Arrangements for food will be made next week and all those who would like to go are urged to sign the sheet on the WRA bulletin board.

with boards, baseball bats and leather whips to carry out the instructions handed to each one. With signs labeling them slightly lower than raving maniacs they ran around for a look of Victor Harkoff's hair, a frankfurter from the Dog House, a bouquet of flowers from somebody's yard and a tax token from Mr. Dwelle.

The starving initiates were then allowed to serve the older members before settling down on their faces on the floor to a meal of cold, unsalted oatmeal and bread and lard.

After allowing them to scrape off a little of the surface goo, they called an end to the ruff stuff and established the five as full-fledged Valk members.

Up And Atom Wins Valks First Prize

Dr. Haggard, read a proclamation for the 1946 Campus Day in the assembly Wednesday morning. Bob Moblo, as master of ceremonies, kept the student assembly rolling. First prize went to Valkyrie, second prize to ACE, and third-prize to AWS.

The AWS started the program with a song skit, "I'll Be Down to Get You in a Taxi, Honey." The audience was surprised by a little miss who sang "Chloe" until she found Mr. Arntzen. Bushnell's presented Chow-Cow-ski and Pitter Patter-esk in a novel piano duet.

Georgia Driver as Beatrice Kay, and Lee Brokaw, Pat Temperley, and Mary Ann Teichroew as the Harlem Hotshots completed Edens hall's masterpiece.

Valkyrie girls danced to Virginia Pendleton's singing in their skit, "Up and Atom." International Relations presented "Olie Olson" in a monologue. The circus came to town when ACE presented "The Biggest Show in Town" accented by Georgia Driver's Peanut-Popcorn sale.

"A Major Operation" was given by Daniels' hall with Hal Patlow as the surgeon. Faculty members were used as the subject for Hospice Inn's "Faculty Flashes of 1960."

more campus day

the hardworking food committee served a picnic lunch of potato salad, hot dogs, cake, milk, and coffee. There was plenty of food and most went back for seconds, with some returning for thirds and even fourths.

Appetites satisfied, an assembly was called on the green above the picnic grounds. Contestants were dragged in for the pie-eating contests. The participants put on a good show, making away with the juicy peach pies in record time. The longest, scrawniest, reddest, and blackest beards were rewarded with several different prizes. A women's shoe-kicking contest was run off. Three separate tug-of-war contests were staged.

Ex-Navy and Marine students pulled against ex-Army and non-service students, but were outmaneuvered. Edens hall girls were thrown for a loss by the town girls. Faculty members were dragged away by the student teachers.

The rest of the afternoon was spent by the playing of the traditional student-faculty baseball game. This year, the faculty ran away from the students. After the game everyone left the park to go to supper and to prepare for the evening dance.

The dance that evening was held in the Student Lounge. The Lounge was gaily decorated with balloons and various Campus Day signs along the walls. The affair was well attended and apparently everyone had a swell time.

Campus Day, 1946, judged by attendance, was indeed a success. No official count was taken but it is thought that at least 75 per cent of WWC students were at the park. Most of the members of the faculty were also present.

Stanley-Schieve Exchange Vows

Miss Beverly Ann Haight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Schieve of Bellingham, was united in marriage to Mr. Murray B. Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Stanley of Kirkland, the evening of April 13, in a double ring ceremony in the Kirkland Congregational Church. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a light pink suit with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias and blue hyacinths.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley left for British Columbia for their wedding trip, and they are now at home at Kirkland. Both the bride and groom attended Western Washington College last year and the bride also attended Seattle College, and took training as a cadet nurse at the Virginia Mason hospital. She is now associated with the Washington State Department of Health.

Percie Schumann Stude For Week

"Edens hall, good evening. Percie Schumann. Just a minute, please." BZZZZZ-BZZZZZ.

"Third floor, who? Percie Schumann . . . she's not in her room. Perhaps if you called a little later you would find her in."

So I started on a mighty hunt to find this charming little lassie who hails from Vancouver, Washington. I searched high (the roof at the dorm) and low (the lunch room at the same place) but to no avail, until a little bird perched on my shoulder and told me. "Look for that big brute of a Les Smith, then look just a little ways away and you will find her, 'cause, well, you know, or do you?"

Priscilla Schumann is what she was christened but you can call her most anything and get away with it. Somebody told me they should call her Pocketbook for short. You know Percie, Pocket book. Miss Schumann is this year's secretary of the freshman class, and a mighty able one too. She also is a very adept artist, for she makes quite a few of the posters that you see adorning the walls concerning Edens hall doings.

Priscilla attended Reed College at Portland, Oregon, for a while before coming to WWC. She is majoring in art here and would like to be a fashion designer if cupid doesn't catch up with her first, and she certainly isn't running very fast. Well, anyway, we are glad to have this likeable girl here and we present her to you as the student of the week.
